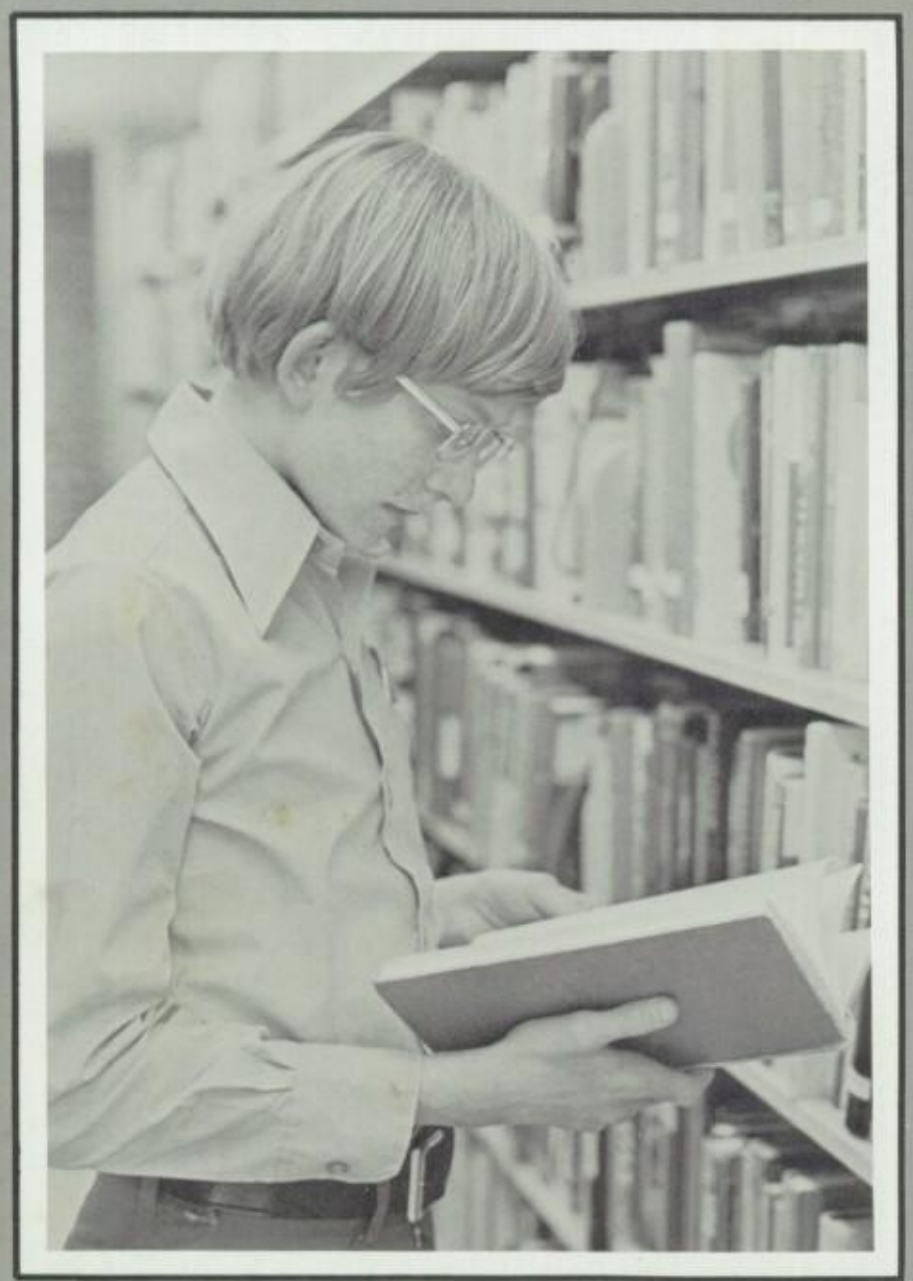
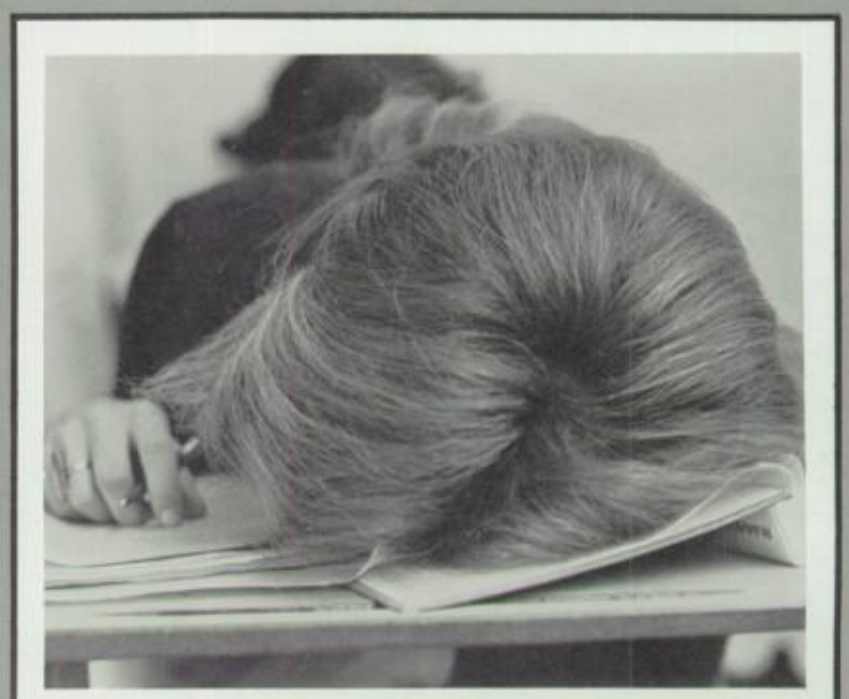
Well, I'm back and it almost seems like I never left this place. Just yesterday it seems like I was emptying out my locker, looking forward to being promoted to another year and anticipating a relaxing summer vacation. Now here I am, having been promoted and starting another year, I realize the summer went too fast for me to relax.

'76-'77 how will I remember it? How will I fit in? The answers will come soon enough but I can't help but wonder....

UP CLOSE

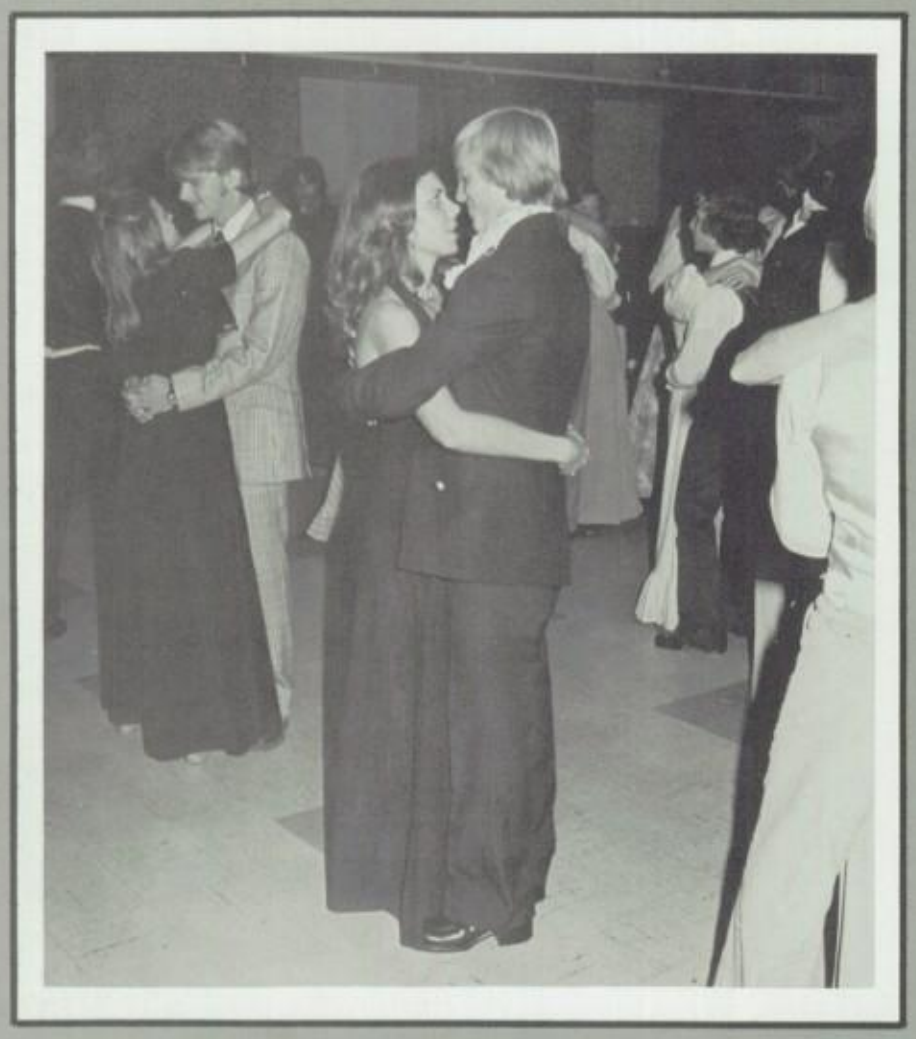
AND PERSONAL

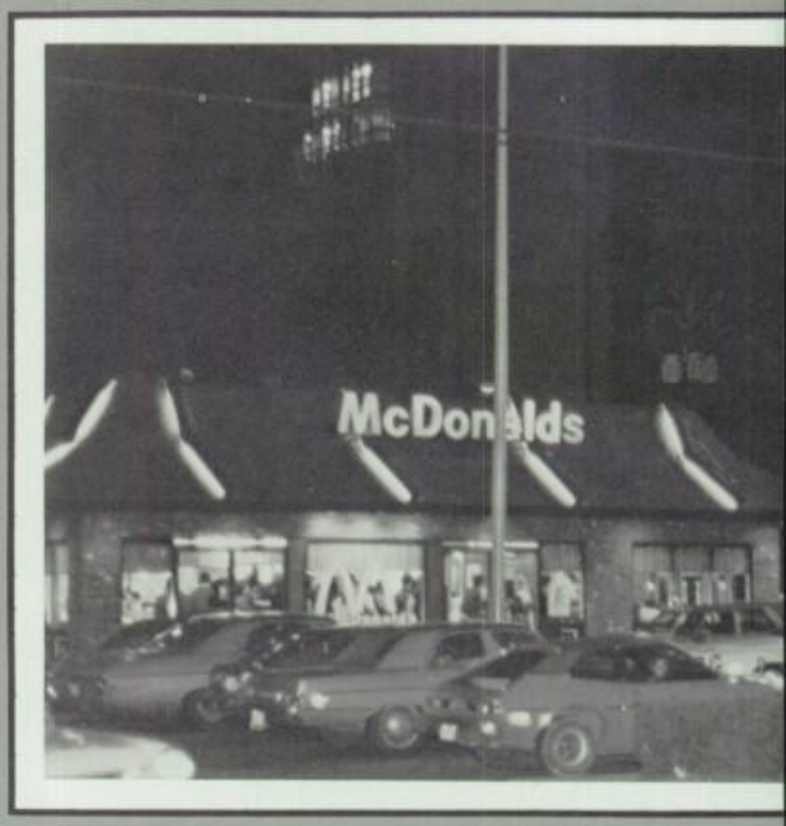




At the beginning of every year "getting into the swing of things" is everyone's main goal. Memorizing your schedule, remembering teachers' names, getting used to eating lunch at quarter to eleven and becoming acquainted with new friends were some of the minor adjustments to be made to start the year out right.

As the year goes on each day becomes routine and the pattern seems unbearable. Skipping is a necessity to keep one's sanity. As you plan your great escape from the lobby, you notice you are not alone. Others choose to stay and stick it out. Education is not the only asset gained from high school; many lasting friendships and memories are there too.





Thank goodness for weekends! The anticipation grows from Monday to Friday and every student hopes his upcoming weekend lives up to his expectations. Attending sports events, partying, going to the movies, going to dances, "cruising", shooting the breeze, and eating out are some of the past times that filled every students weekend. In the end the weekends never provided enough time for the activities that they had looked forward to since Monday.

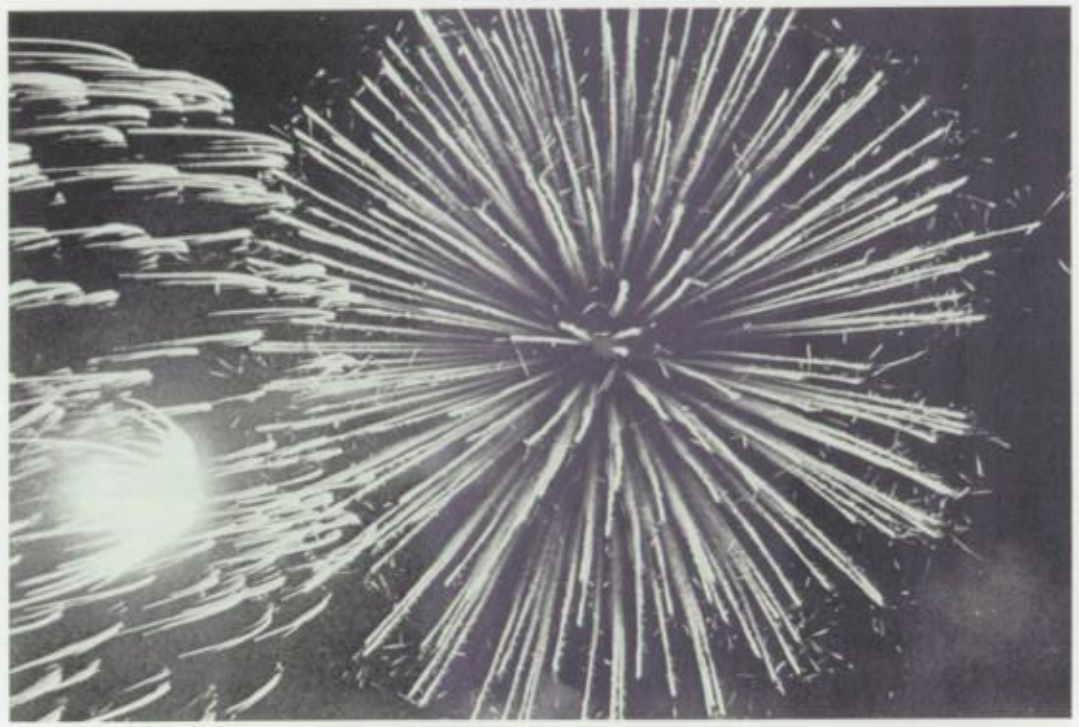
STUDENT LIFE



SUMMER

A favorite summertime activity — goofing around!!

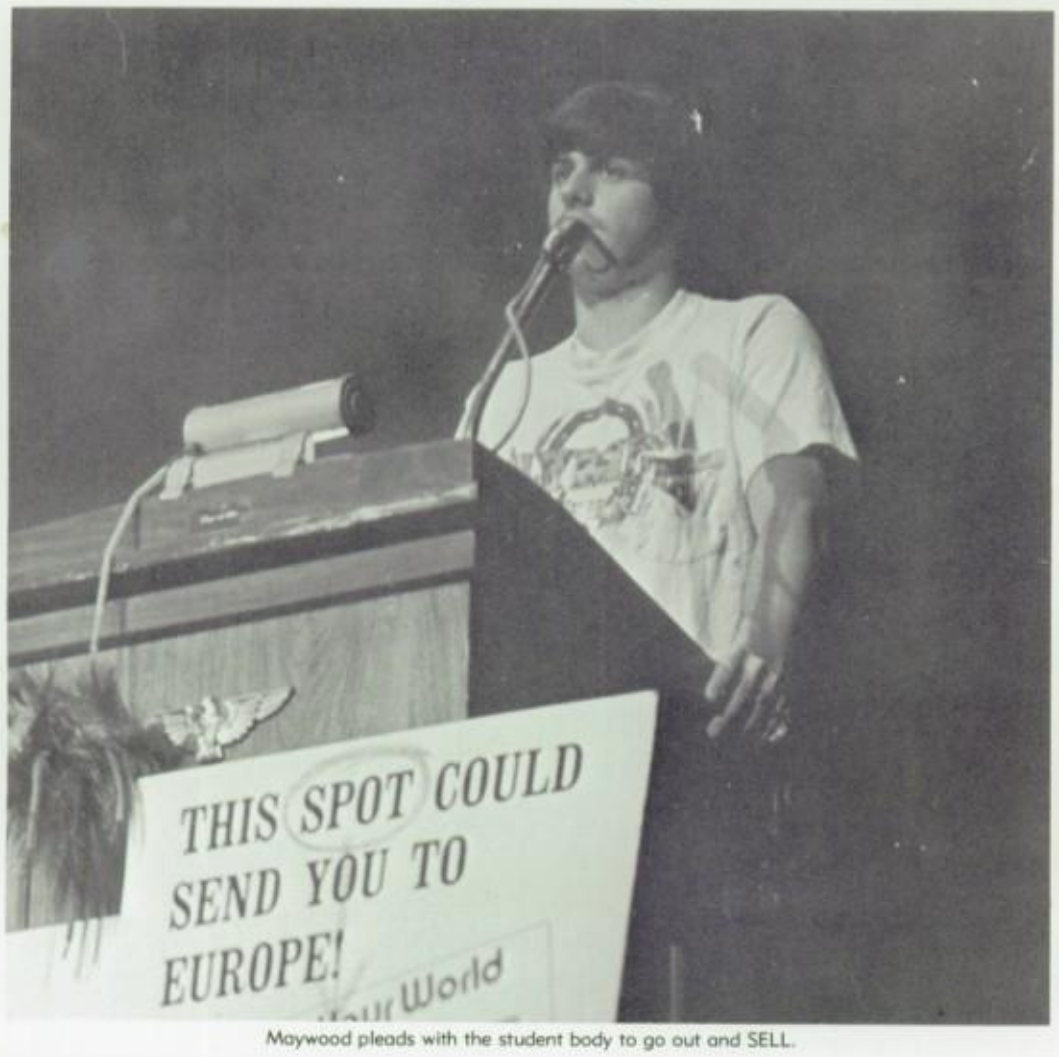
During the summer months Jeff Stamper, Andrew Menkart and Berk Shervin won the Sears Cup North American Junior Sailing Championship.

During the summer many bicentennial flags were evident!!

Leslie McArthur and Donna Kutschera attend Masanutten Va. State Orchestra Camp during their summer vacation.

FALL

Magazine Drive



Maywood pleads with the student body to go out and SELL.

The magazine drive was the most successful ever with approximately $16,000 made in sales. The drive was kicked off with an assembly to explain selling procedures. Film clips from American Graffiti were shown as motivation to "get out and sell!". All students who sold two or more subscriptions were allowed to skip classes and watch the movie. A duel had been arranged between the Fighting Lancers and West Springfield to see who could outsell the other. Lee won, of course.

Mock Elections

The Social Studies department held a mock presidential election this year to find out how Lee High students would vote if they could. The results were overwhelmingly in favor of President Ford unlike the actual election results. Teachers remarked that students previously have always voted conservatively so that this outcome was not surprising.

The seniors take a big interest in the Mock Elections.

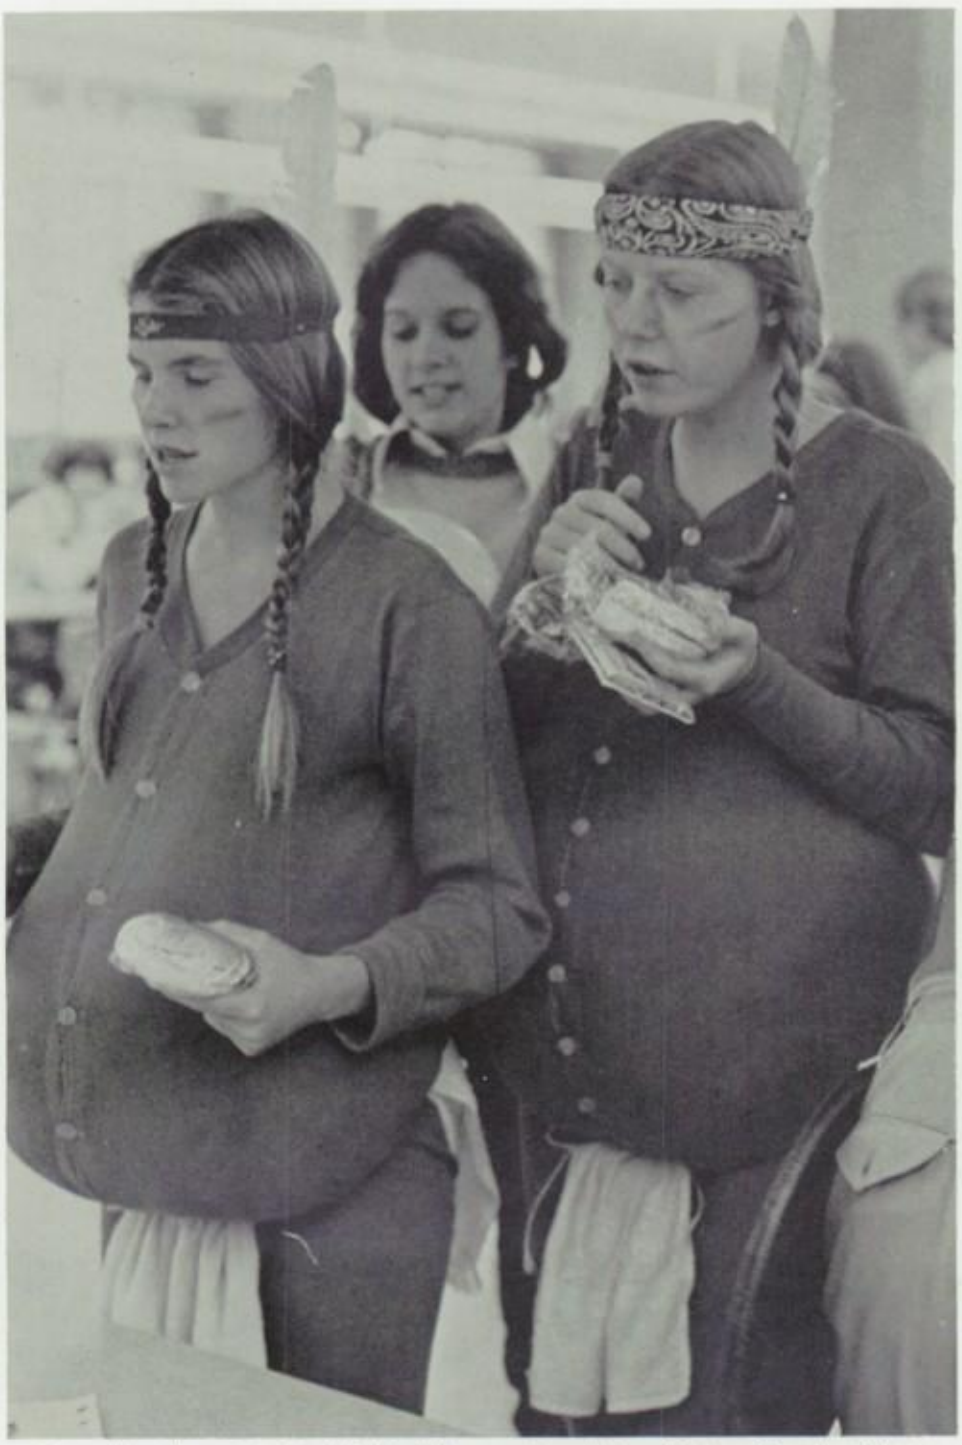
Homecoming Week

A group of seniors decorate their winning hall.

Homecoming Baby Contest Competitors — Winner, Eddie Morton, Runner-up, Mike McClellan.

"Stick'em up, Mister."

Maureen Gallagher and Chris Sleigh, two cowgirls, roam the halls during lunch.



Two redskins, Sharon Pietzyk and Debbie Fuller, roam through the cafeteria on Thursday of Homecoming week.

The Annual Bonfire on Oct. 26 was one of the many Homecoming Week activities.

An exhausted cowgirl catches some shut-eye between classes.

The Junior Hall after Friday's excitement before the big game.

"The Wild, Wild West" was the homecoming theme and many activities of a western flavor took place. The halls were decorated by their respective classes, and students dressed as cowboys, Indians and other characters one might meet on the wide prairie. Everyone had a fun week leading up to the football game, even the faculty, though they had a hard time keeping their classes' attention on the subject at hand.

Powderpuff

The powderpuff official, Mr. Cockey, explains that there is no such thing as a free throw in football.

The juniors listen while their quarterback, Sally Campbell, explains the next play.

Sharon Pietzyk, Cathy Jellison and Mallarie Wiemann jump for joy after the seniors make their first touchdown.

What's the biggest football rivalry in town? The Redskins and Cowboys you say? Wrong! It's the senior girls against the junior girls in their annual Powder puff Game.

With some of the sexiest cheerleaders this side of the Potomac romping on the sidelines, the Seniors fought with all their might but to no avail. The Juniors all the while kept their furious attitude while rolling to a 28-16 upset victory.

The huge crowd was on its feet for practically every play (mainly because they couldn't see over the sidelines), while partisan spectators cheered on their sides with cries of "Kill the ref", or "Did you see that cheerleader bounce?"

Teddy Martin, head cheerleader for the juniors, bring his squad over for a friendly hello cheer.

Follies

Gauntlet tries to show how a western football team prepares for a game.

One of the girls' service clubs imitate the football team while listening to Debbie West sing.

The "Old West" Follies were held on Oct. 27 and consisted of imaginative skits by all the service clubs. Lancer-Tri-Hi-Y came in first. They portrayed the football players as cowboys and sang verses that had to do with them and their characteristics. Second place went to Civettes and third to Lancer-Hi-Y. All the clubs did a good job and everyone who went was given a fun evening of great entertainment.

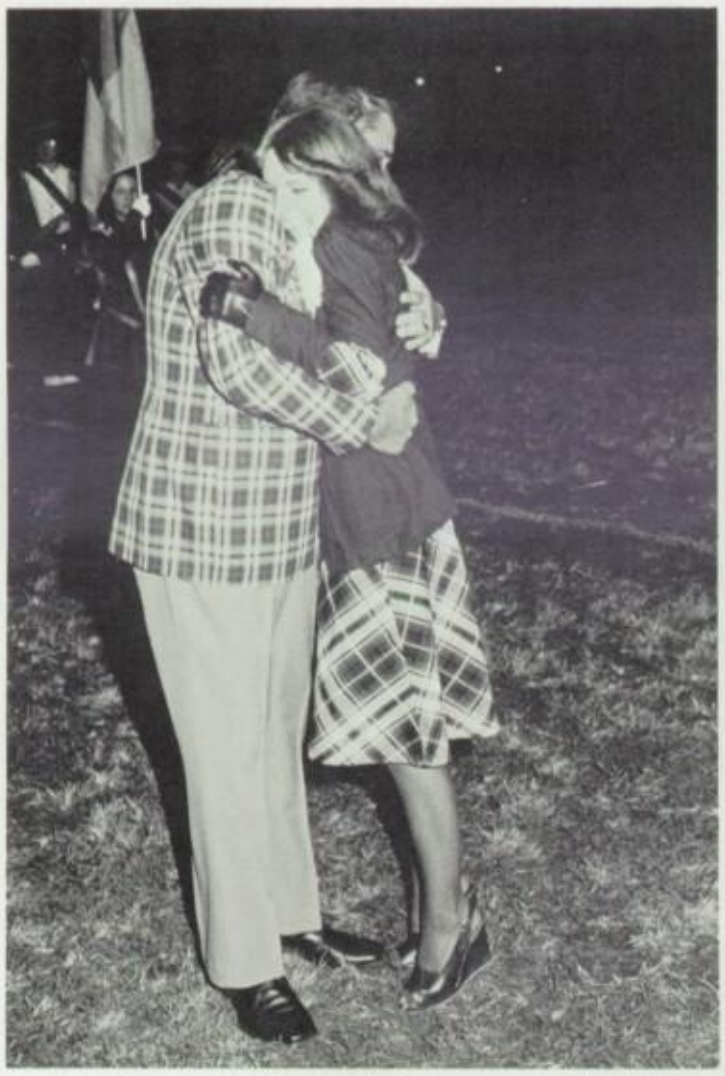
Lancer-Tri-Hi-Y sings out with great enthusiasm while competing for first place.

Homecoming Night

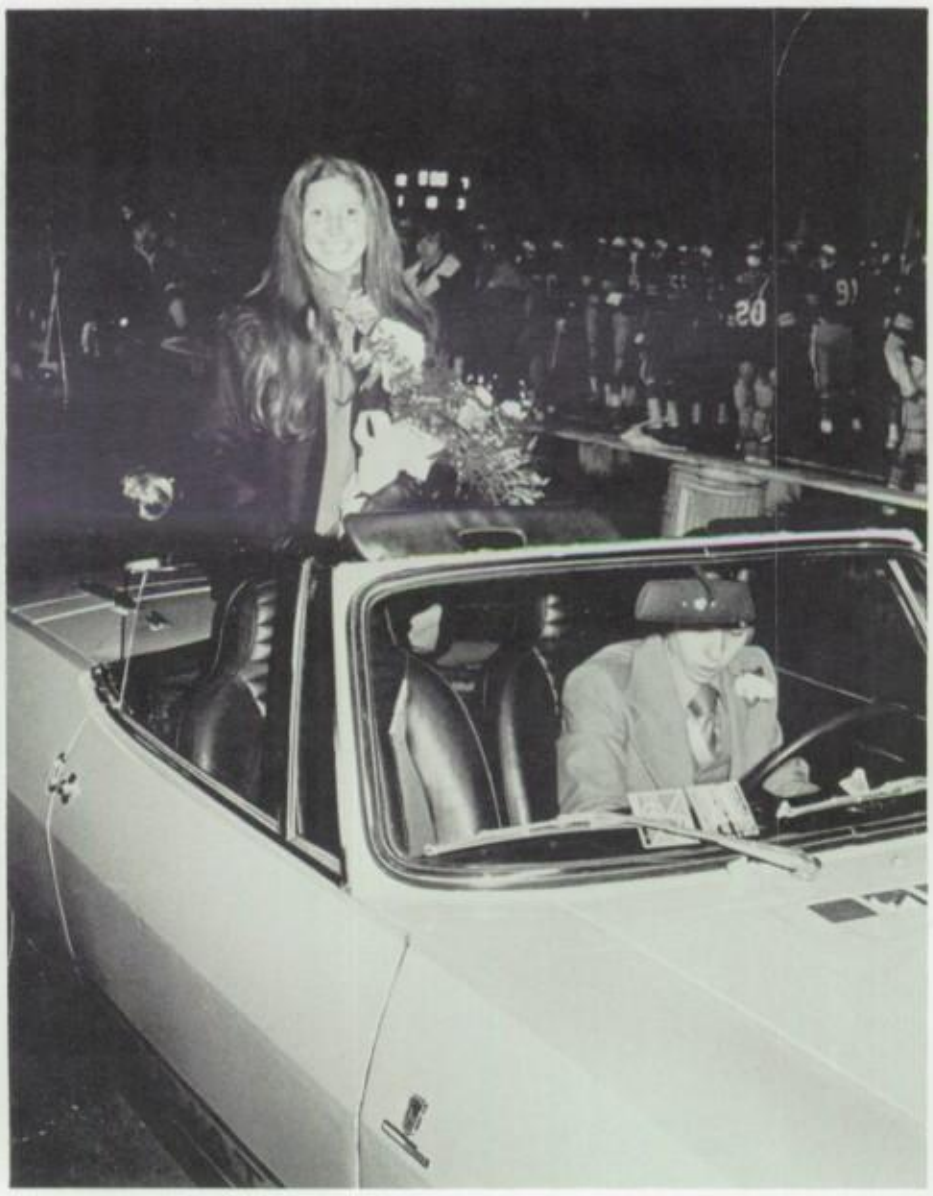
Seniors Attendants Ronnie and Carol are driven around the track for the last time.

The Senior Class, with the help of their class symbol the pink panther, wins first place.

Carla Cushman, escorted by her father, begins her way across the field.



Mr. Masters congratulates Jackie after she was announced Homecoming Queen for 1976-77.



Brenda Poole gives a big smile after being announced Maid-of-Honor.

The Dance

The crowds arrive for the "big dance".

Jeannie and Andrea receive flowers for all their hard work.

Maid-of-Honor Brenda Poole is escorted by Chuck to the Attendants circle.

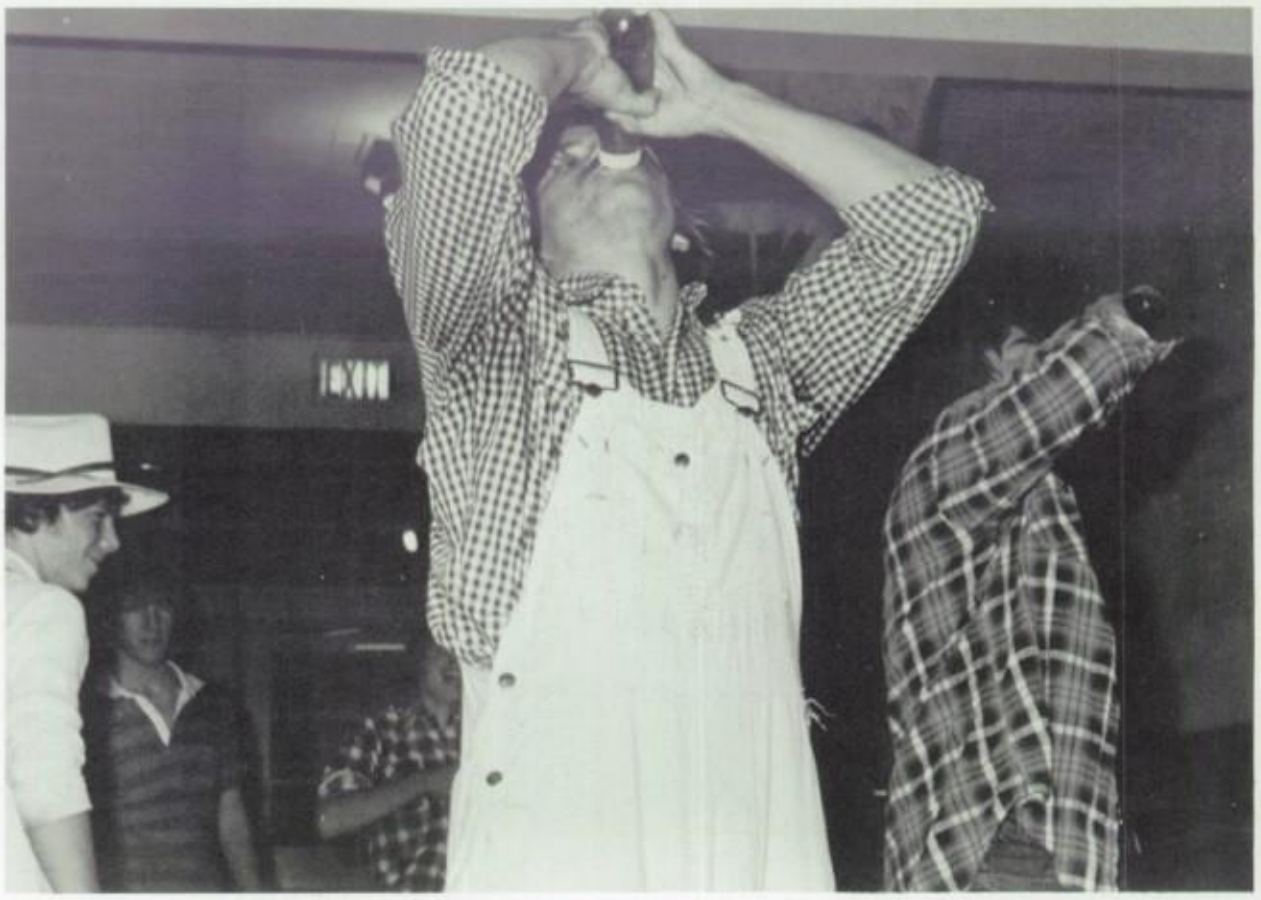
Sadie Hawkins

"Rainbow," the lively entertainment, enjoys performing.

Two typical "hill billy" couples are waiting to see Marrying Sam at Sadie Hawkins.

Amy, Shari, Katie, Matt and Jeff enjoy selling refreshments at the Sadie Hawkins Dance.

The annual Sadie Hawkins Dance, sponsored by Keyette and Key Clubs, was quite a success. Everyone dressed up and Marry'n Sam married all the couples. Bill Murphy and Michelle Maigret reigned as king and queen over the activities. The Cider Drinking Contest was won by Brian Lenhoff.



The Baby Bottle Contest is one of the events at the Sadie Hawkins Dance that Brian Lenhoff participates in.

Bloodmobile

Many brave students donate their blood.

Giving blood is a rewarding gift after it's all over.

The library is a busy place for the Red Cross.

The annual Red Cross Bloodmobile was one of Lee's more important contributions to the Springfield community. The blood was distributed to hospitals where it is used for seriously ill people and accident victims. The school has always given good support to this program and hopes to continue. In November, 82 units were donated by students and faculty members.

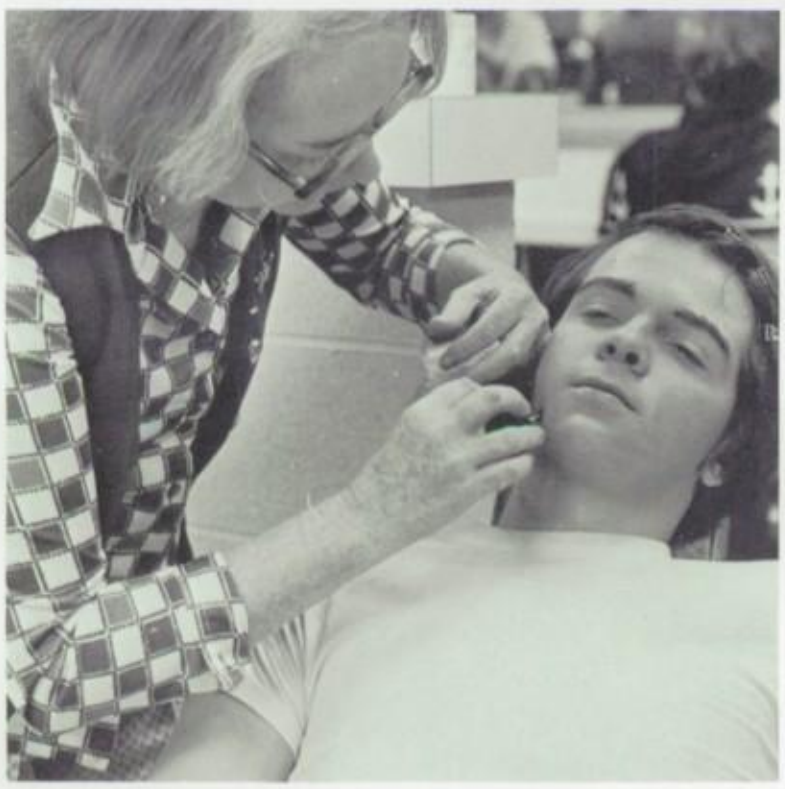
HMS Pinafore

Capt. Corcoran realizes that his daughter is in love with a lowly sailor.

Careful make-up enhances the atmosphere of the play.

Cathy Hess and Brian Mosior sing a love song.

The entire cast joins in for the final chorus.



Jeff Hardin is made up for a performance.

Some very talented students of Robert E. Lee put on the musical hit, Gilbert and Sullivan's H.M.S. Pinafore. The play was one of the major fund raising activities that Lee's choral department held. All funds went towards their Guatemala trip in January of '77. Dr. James Pfohl, the choral director at Lee was musical director for the play, and Miss Worsham, the drama director. Many members of the faculty and student body were very involved in putting together H.M.S. Pinafore.

The main cast:
Sir Joseph Porter K.C.B. — John Cook
Captain Corcoran — Jeff Hardin
Ralph Rackstraw — Brian Mosior
Dick Deadeye — David Cloniger
Bill Bobstay — Andy Derendinger
Bob Becket — Mark Barget
Josephine — Kathy Hess
Cousin Hebe — Lori Hartman
Little Buttercup — Leslie Voegler

Dick Deadeye threatens Sir Porter.

Senior-Faculty Basketball

Jim Young jumps higher than his faculty opponent, Mr. Kight.

Brian runs down the court to get two points for the senior team.

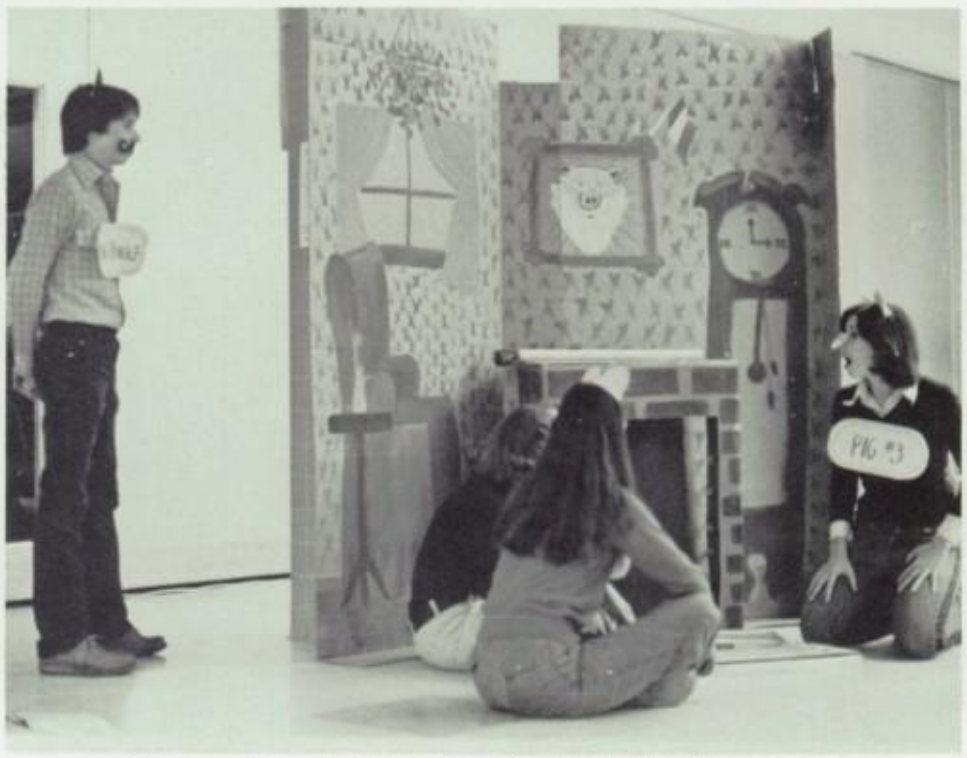
Members of the Senior and Faculty teams fight for the ball.

The Seniors vs. Faculty Basketball game offered students a chance to see their favorite teachers trounced on by the seniors. The final score was 45 to 35 (with the help of the scorekeeper) in favor of the seniors in a clear victory. Half-time activities included a volleyball game between the women teachers and senior girls. Again, the teachers floundered much to the delight of the student body. What a way to kick off Thanksgiving vacation!

The jump ball was the start of the biggest game of the year between the faculty men and senior boys.

International Dinner

Mrs. Collin and Mrs. Piazza discuss the success of the International Dinner.



Some French foreign language students act out the play "The Three Little Pigs".

Members of the band help contribute to the entertainment at the International Dinner.

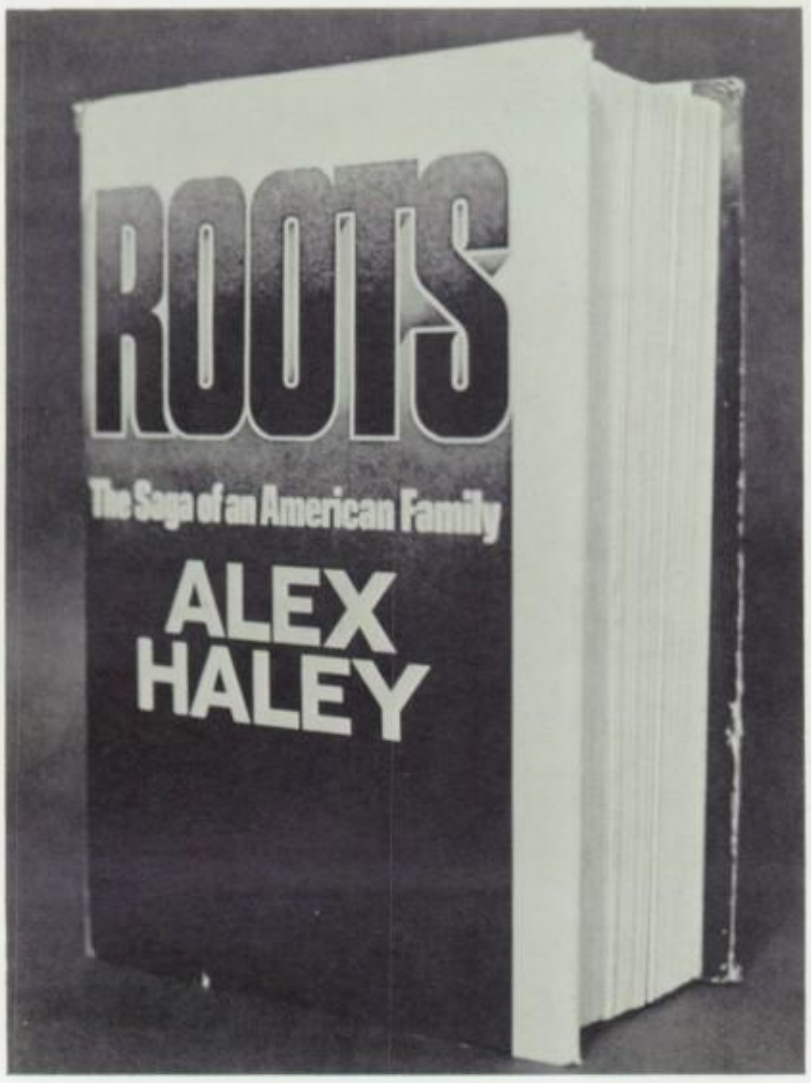
Scott Forbes wondering what he really ate.

Mrs. Piazza and students provide musical entertainment for the international dinner.

The International Dinner drew a crowd of hungry people interested in foods from other countries. Everyone brought a different dish, and a good variety was available. The highlight of the evening was the international entertainment. The children's story, "The Three Little Pigs", was performed in French, German and Spanish. A German band played, can-can girls danced, and a musical group sang Christmas songs in different languages.

WINTER

ROOTS

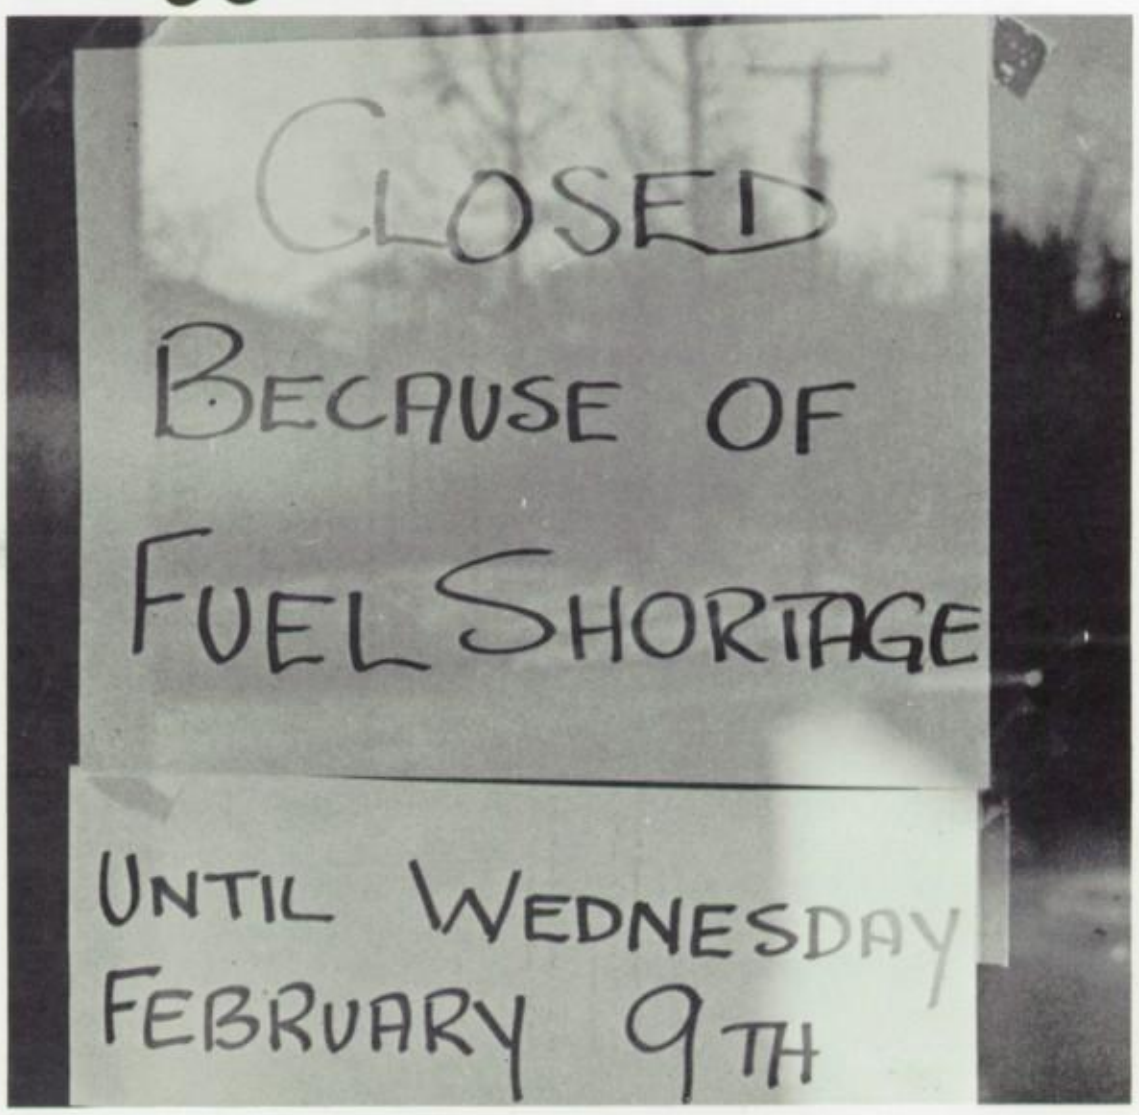


This book is one of the all time best sellers.

Roots, by Alex Haley, was the most talked about novel of this year. The television serialization of it brought to the surface a subject that most Americans would rather not discuss, that of slavery.The editorial pages of major newspapers became battlegrounds upon which the pros and cons of the issue were fought. The book was the topic of most television and radio talk shows as it was also in impromptu classroom discussions. A renewed interest in genealogy has caused the Library of Congress and local court houses to be inundated with requests for information from people interested in tracing their ancestry.

Energy Crisis

This past winter has been the coldest year on record. As a result, a shortage of natural gas quickly became apparent. Vepco began cutting power on a rotating basis which allowed the students at Lee to be released from school two hours early on one day. Governor Godwin drastically cut the hours of business to only forty a week. Lee students had their work hours cut and did not have any place to shop or to socialize. Schools using natural gas were closed for several days, though good ole Robert E. Lee uses oil for heat. It was interesting to note that during the height of the crisis, we had our windows open to avoid suffocation!



Typical notices like this one were seen throughout Springfield during the fuel shortage.

Guatemala

The ruins from the earthquake in Antiqua provide an interesting setting for a performance.

Many activities had been planned including a lecture at the Conservatory.

Members of the chorus at Dulles Airport goof around before their departure.

The chorus arrived at the Guatemalan Airport to an explosion of color.

On January 31, the Robert E. Lee Chorus took off from Dulles airport on their way to Guatamala to sing at a benefit for the victims of the earthquake last year. They stayed at the Hotel Posada de Don Rodrigo in Antigua where they listened to the mirimba bands during the evening. An exciting schedule of sightseeing and shopping had been set up for the chorus, but the high points of their visit were the two performances. They sang at the Guatemalan National Theatre and were well received by the audiences.

Dr. Pfohl directs the performance at the National Conservatory of Music.

It's Academic

On January 8, the Lee It's Academic Team, sponsored by Mrs. licah Mellion, competed at the WRC-TV 4 studios against Richard Montgomery and McKinley High Schools. Lee was just edged out of the win by Richard Montgomery who had earned 500 points to Lee's 475. McKinley High School stumbled to the finish with only 270 points.

This year's team consisted of captain Jeff Hardin, Dave Compton, and Joe Hoffman. Jeff Bernstein served as the alternate.

Ski Trip

Mallarie Wiemann (Boofie) waits in the lobby of the hotel to get her room assignment so she can start for the slopes.

"Such Style!"

A crazy bunch of Seniors inflicted with snow-fever.

Early on the morning of January 20 eighty-two students piled on D.C. Transit buses and headed for Seven Springs, Pa. The weather was perfect — snow, snow and more snow. The beginners found themselves sprawling in the white stuff while aspiring experts spent their time waiting in lift lines. Students from all over Fairfax County filled the lodge and had a good time both on and off the slopes.

The lodge, the snow and the lift-line.

Spaghetti Dinner

Mrs. Pfahl is dining out Italian style.

The "Taltons Plus One" perform foot stompin' bluegrass music.

Mr. Bradley enjoys the good food and conversation.

Jackie Masters provides entertainment for the crowd.

The cooks display their culinary talents.

The Spaghetti Dinner sponsored by the Senior Class was held on Jan. 27. The cafeteria was transformed into an Italian café, with checkered tablecloths and dripped candles. The evening started off with entertainment consisting of Jackie Masters doing a little "booging", Mike Talton playing Banjo music, Jo Masters and Joe Sollars demonstrating "Disco", and Sue Gianakaris, Jeannie Simon, Debi Newcomb and Karen Swindell doing a dance routine. All in all it was a most enjoyable evening and one that will be well remembered by all who participated.

Mr Lancer

The five semi-finalists await the results from the judges.

Eddie Morton displays himself as "Good & Plenty."

The judges now find out what really goes on in the Mr. Lancer contest.

The Mr. Lancer Contest, sponsored by Lancer Tri-Hi-Y and the Senior Class was held on February 9. Emceed by Anne Caussin, the contest started with a dance number performed by all the competitors, followed by skits. The sophmores' skit, "Middleman," about a fictitious fellow named Mel Middle, and the juniors' was "Cannibalism and Other Gross Things." A combined class effort was "The Wong Show." The seniors took first prize for their "Speical Olympics." Brant Edwards was awarded the title of "Mr. Legs," Pat Hannigan was awarded Best Costume, and Paul Breidenbach was named Mr. Congeniality. A special Judges' Award was given to Peter Popeck. To the delight of the audience, Paul Breindenbach was crowned the Mr. Lancer of 1977.

Billy Cushman and Paul Breidenbach announce the past events in the winning skit of "Special Olympics."

Pat Hannigan displays his winning costume of Mr. Copenhagen II.

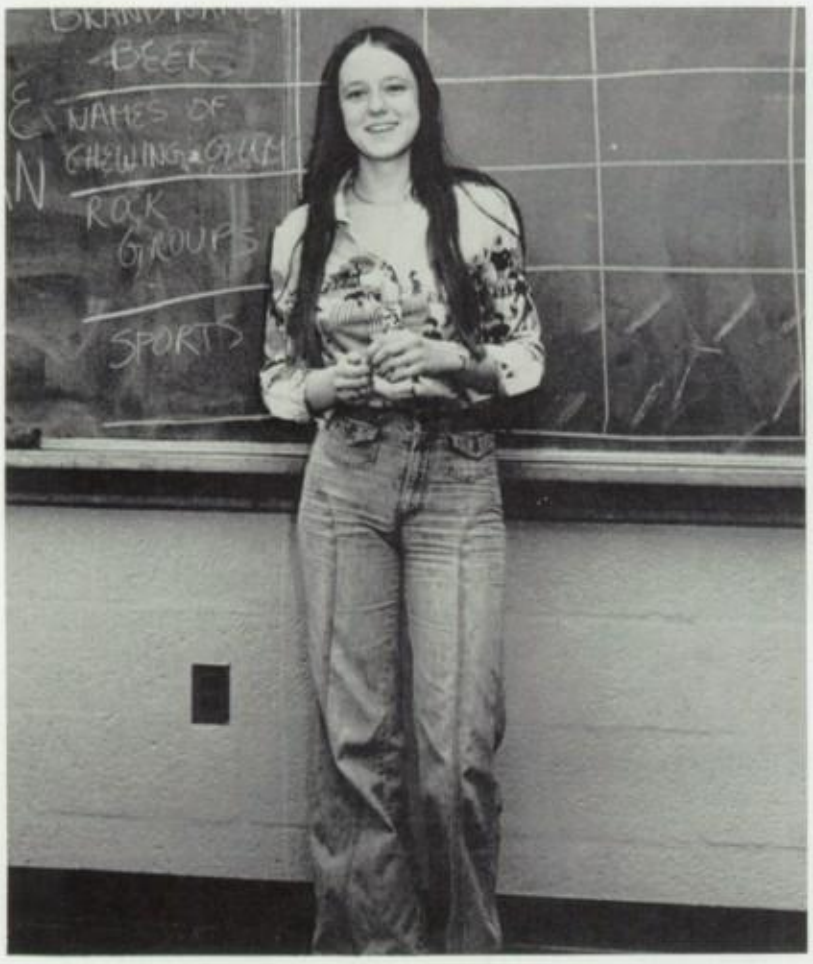
The 1977 Mr. Lancer contestants and their escorts.

The girls in Lancer Tri-Hi-Y enjoy watching the contestants do their thing.

Mary Runow presents Brant Edwards with the Mr. Legs Award.

The 1977 Mr. Lancer is showered with gifts, gifts, gifts!

Senior Administration Day



Laura Jablinski teaches Mr. Harris' juniors to recognize brand names of beers.

The energetic coaches of boys' P.E. keep an eye on their class.

Girls' gym classes receive a lecture on the finer points of soccer.

Janitors are caught actually sweeping the hallways.

At Robert E. Lee each year it has become traditional to let the seniors take over all the classes and duties of the faculty and staff. This year was no exception as students arrived to find their regular instructors replaced by these oddly well-dressed "teachers." The principal's conference room was changed into an executive lunchroom as the hard-working administrators retired for the afternoon. The day was a rewarding experience for all as the seniors discovered how much work goes into teaching the "sweathogs."

Senior Calendar

The class of '77 had long awaited their senior year, and when it finally arrived, the class officers began the planning for a successful year. The seniors began the year by winning many events during homecoming week. Their spirit continued throughout the year with a ski trip, a raffle, sock hops, dress-up day, and a class trip. Everything led up to the big night when the class of '77 would join the many classes of alumni of Robert E. Lee High School.

Sept. 3- Sock Hop
Dec. 17- Sock Hop
Dec. 22- Senior Dress-Up Day
Dec. 22- Christmas Caroling
Jan. 13- Senior Ski Trip
Mar. 3- Senior Administration Day
May 1- Senior Reception
May 23- Senior Field Day
May 28- Senior Prom

The Sly Guy

The class of '77 chose the pink panther as their class symbol. The skinny figure was seen decorating all senior posters, not to mention the senior lounge. A huge full length portait of the panther covered one wall with his tail encircling the entire room to form a '77 above his head. His mark was everywhere including the seats in the lounge's ladies and gents rooms. Debbie Fuller assisted by the other class officers created the Pink Panther's image for all senior functions. Every member of the senior class will remember him as they carry his picture engraved on their class card.

Smile

Just before we began our Senior year, all students at Lee received a telephone call giving them a designated date to have their pictures taken for their student ID. The first thing that went through everyone's mind is "what the heck is a student ID?" When our appointment finally came, we either took off work or left the pool for a while to hear Mr. Baumgartner say "cheese." We got a student ID which was supposed to be our official pass to enter all school sponsored activities in spite of the fact that the pictures didn't look like us. Oh, well, next year it's college ID's.

Senior Sweep

In keeping with the theme of the "Wild West" the class of '77 took first place with their hall decorations which featured life-size replicas of the senior members of the varsity football team. Showing the kind of enthusiasm which is rarely seen in seniors, they took first place for having the largest number of people dress-up on their specific day. The "pep pole", a five foot pep-stick, was easily won by the seniors who not only had the largest number of "spirit-links" but yelled and cheered the most at the pep rally. The senior float, depicting the Pink Panther in front of his tepee with a tiger skin stretched out in the background, made the string of victories complete. The week would have been perfect if only the Lancers had come out on top of the 12-13 homecoming game score.

The True Test

If you are planning to go to college next year, you certainly had to live through the ordeal of taking the SAT's and Achievement tests. No college bound senior was exempt from this, and the anxieties of waiting six long weeks for the results to come back were shared by all. Your life hung on these scores for months. You constantly worried about whether or not they were good enough to satisfy the admission officer at the college of your choice and how they compared with those scores of the others that applied. Many had to go through this more than once because the better your scores, the better your chances were.

Getting Ready

For those seniors who will be going to college next year the fall was spent worrying over whether or not they would be accepted to the college of their choice. There were many things which had to be done in order to send these forms out to the colleges with all the right answers in the correct blanks on time. First off your college board scores had to be good enough, then you had to get the correct application and fill it out, and the next step was to decide what you wanted to include and what you did not. After that you had to put your answers in some sort of logical order with the correct grammar. Ugh!! The last step came in sending the application to the college. You took it to your guidance counselor, and if you had all the necessary information, and your activity sheet was filled out, the whole thing was simple. If you had the transcript filled out incorrectly . . .

A Different Touch

Presidents come and presidents go, but the school won't be the same after Maywood Wallace. His year at Lee as student body president proved that not only the academically superior students become student body president. In fulfilling his duties of making the daily announcements and emceeing the pep rallies, Maywood never seemed to be an extention of the administration. It was with extreme reluctance that he would say, "O.K., now return to your second period class" at the end of a rousing pep rally.

Maywood was totally individual. His trademark attire of jeans, a T-shirt, and sneakers, along with his quick-witted sense of humor, set him apart from the crowd. At Boy's State, prior to his senior year, he narrowly lost the nomination for governor in spite of the fact that he was a forceful liberal in a dominately conservative group.

Think Snow

Everyone had spent at least one muggy June day in school making up a snow day prior to their senior year. This year was different, however; seniors looked forward to snow days knowing that they would not have to make them up. Each teacher was plagued with seniors constantly predicting that school would be called off because of snow. Seniors were heart-broken when snow was forcasted but never came. Many times the predicted snow would turn to sleet, and all hopes would be shattered. Practically every senior spent some part of each day praying for snow. When the snow finally did come, all seniors waited with anticipation for Mr. Jackson's dismissal of school.

Gimme a Pinch

The "chew" fad turned into a near-epidemic at Lee High School. It spread from the athletic fields into the halls and classrooms. Everywhere you looked there was some guy with a giant wad bulging in the side of his mouth. The baseball players and their coaches weren't the only ones who could be seen "chewin'". Everyone from the seniors right down to the freshman "chewed". To many the habit was "mighty relaxin'" while many found it a less than desirable trait. It took a strong stomach to tolerate the stuff and an even stronger one to put up with someone who did.

Breaker 1-9

Everywhere you looked there was someone with a CB (citizen's band) radio. In stores, on television, and in magazine ads the thing to have was a "CB". They were easy to install and weren't too expensive to own. Having a CB in your car became as standard as having a radio and an 8-track player. They were stolen as often too. Many people had base stations in their homes which allowed them to talk to even more of their "Good Buddies". The CB-ers had a language of their own where a state policeman was a "smokey" and when he set up one of his great speed traps he was "taking pictures." You didn't use your real name when talking to your "Good Buddies", either. You had a "handle" that they called you such as "Chestnut", "Slow Motion", "Rubber Duckie", and "Bonehead". With your CB the road was "clean and green" and you could "keep on trucking" without worrying about the nice policemen bothering you.

The Aftermath

The class of '77 had diverse plans for the future after graduation. The majority said that they wanted to continue their education either at a community college, a four year college, or a vocational school. Others intended to start out on their own in the business world. What will you do you when you graduate?

"Go to U. Va. — I hope."

"Work in a garage."

"Who me?"

"Sit around and see what happens."

"Go to law school."

Do you have any idea what you'll be doing ten years from now?

"Have a gold badge from Penny's"

"Be real rich."

"Who knows?"

"Who cares?"

The Begining of the End

The first event that takes place in the complicated procedure of graduating is ordering announcements. For some seniors filling out the order forms and scrounging up the money from reluctant parents might not appear very exciting. But when one realizes that this is the beginning of the end — the end of high school — it becomes anything but dull.

It's Finally Over

Every senior has spent twelve long and laboring years waiting for this point of his life. The last few months before graduation were spent waiting for college acceptances and enjoying the last years of high school. For some graduation from high school was only one more step toward their final goal in life. For others it was the closing of all books and the end of school forever. It was a giant step for everyone. Each and everyone of us will remember for a lifetime the sound of our names ringing through the stadium while parents and friends cheered. This year has been one to remember and one filled with activities and memories — things that will be part of us for the rest of our lives. But the biggest memory of all is standing on the platform in the long blue robe with the mortarboard balanced on the top of your head and having Mr. Jackson hand you that all important piece of paper, your diploma. That is what it was all for, to graduate with Robert E. Lee's class of 1977.

Ann Caussin, Secretary

The class of '78 surged forward with Larry Shepherd, the vice president, assuming the responsibilities of president, and J.J. Daniels appointed public relations officer. The class was involved in many Junior year activities — winning the pepstick, carwashes and bake sales. Many juniors participated in Homecoming Week activities — the Powderpuff game, spirit links, Junior Dress-up day, hall decorations, and a second prize float. The familiar face of Ziggy took on special significance as he was elected class symbol early in the year. The highlight of the year, the Prom, was held in April in the cafeteria. Finally, with the arrival of rings, the class paused to look back on the past 3 years and forward to 1978-79 — the year of the Lancer.

Those Terrible Tests

Like every other junior class, the class of '78 was faced with a battery of tests to be taken. The pages of little ovals that were to be "completely blackened with a No. 2 soft lead pencil" never seemed to end. They were enough to make you cross-eyed! All juniors took the manditory SRA tests given by the state that got them out of their morning classes for a few days. Many took the PSAT's (Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test) which is optional but highly recommended for college bound students. This test was only an inkling of what the SAT's would be like, and some juniors took SAT's (Scholastic Aptitude Tests) for the first of several times. While the SRA tests got juniors out of class the PSAT's and SAT's got them out of bed at 6:30 a.m. on Saturday mornings. These tests were not only difficult but they were extremely important especially if the college you wanted to apply to had minimum score requirements.

Ziggy

This was the year the class of '78 picked its symbol. The choice of the Junior class for its symbol was Tom Wilson's "Ziggy," "America's Favorite Loser." Ziggy has appeared on posters, candles, greeting cards, calendars, and in a daily comic strip. He represents the class of '78 because, although he does not always succeed at everything he attempts, he never stops trying.

Class Rings

A long wait accompanied the long lines to order class rings in mid-December. Finally the Juniors received their rings, and soon revived was the tradition of turning one's ring, 77 times one way, the 78th on graduation day. The rings were chosen with great care and attention so that each student would have what he considered the perfect ring.

Home Sweet Home

The class of '78 adjusted to their environment "Junior Hall" for the year. At any time during the year the hall was to be seen in various degrees of decoration ranging from Homecoming to forgotten books, tennis shoes, and remains of a locker decorated for a birthday or by a secret pal. Between classes doors would swing open to reveal slogans and clippings such as "I'M SURE" or "FLY ME." Once the bell rang the doors would shut to conceal the contents until later.

Elections '76

The year 1976 may be remembered as the year of the election. It was no small surprise that, along with Farrah Fawcett-Majors, Barbara Walters and the making of "King Kong," it was one of the most publicized subjects around. There was unmistakable enthusiasm at Lee, with students working for candidates in both the presidential and local races. It was not unusual to see notebooks and lockers plastered with stickers promoting a favorite candidate. Even the undecided were swept up in the torrential current of interest. Most history and government classes spent days discussing the election. The discussion was definitely not confined to these classes alone, because the politically active students helped the Jimmy Carter — Gerald Ford contest find its way into the economics, English, and science classes, where lively discussions sidetracked both teachers and students. Talk was especially lively on the mornings following the "great debates." Now that it is all over, however, everyone has become a true patriot and given his support to our new president, Jimmy Carter.

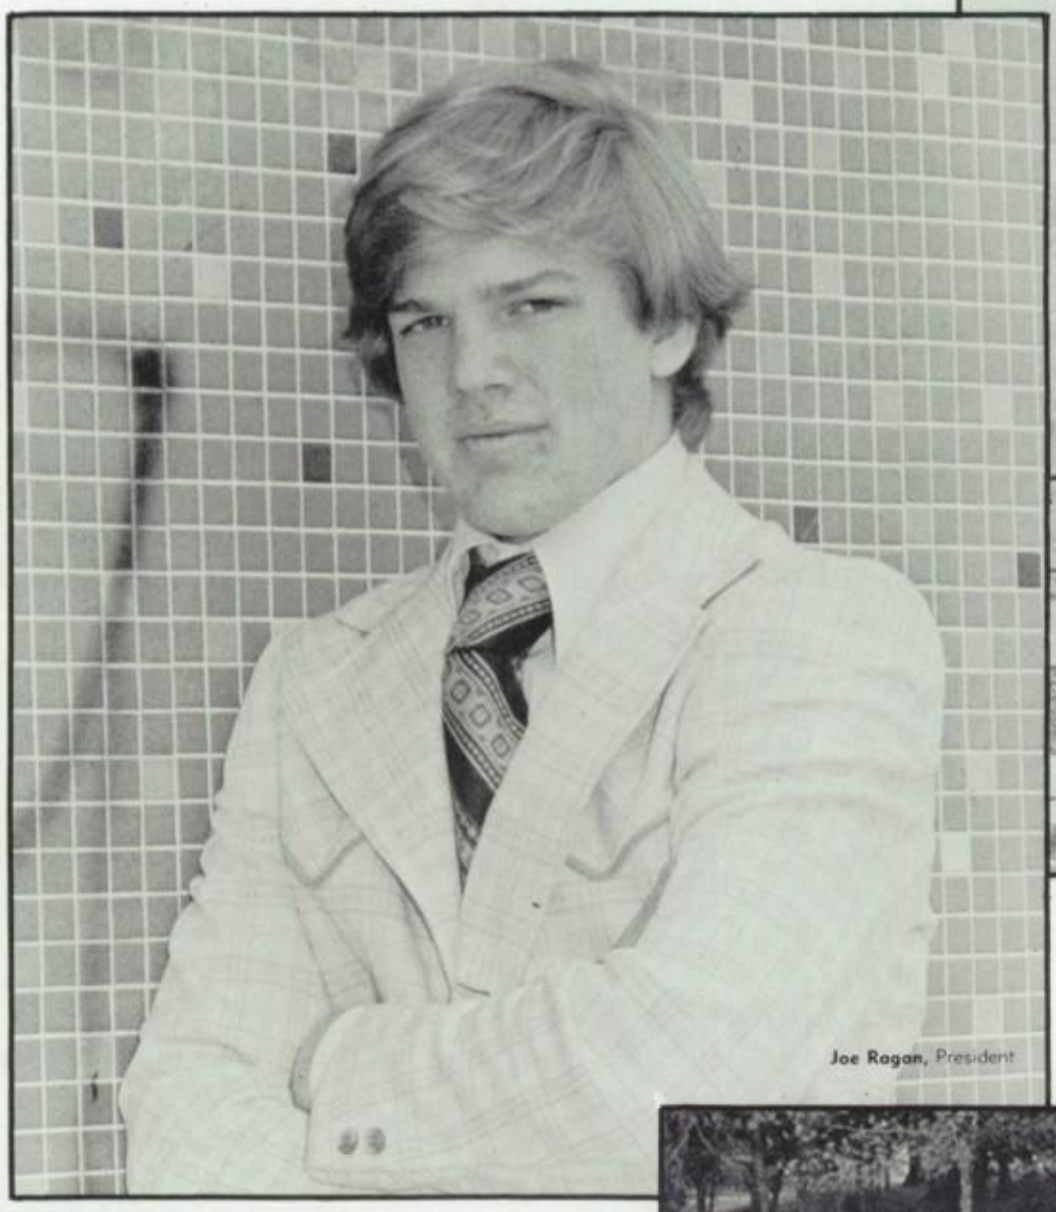
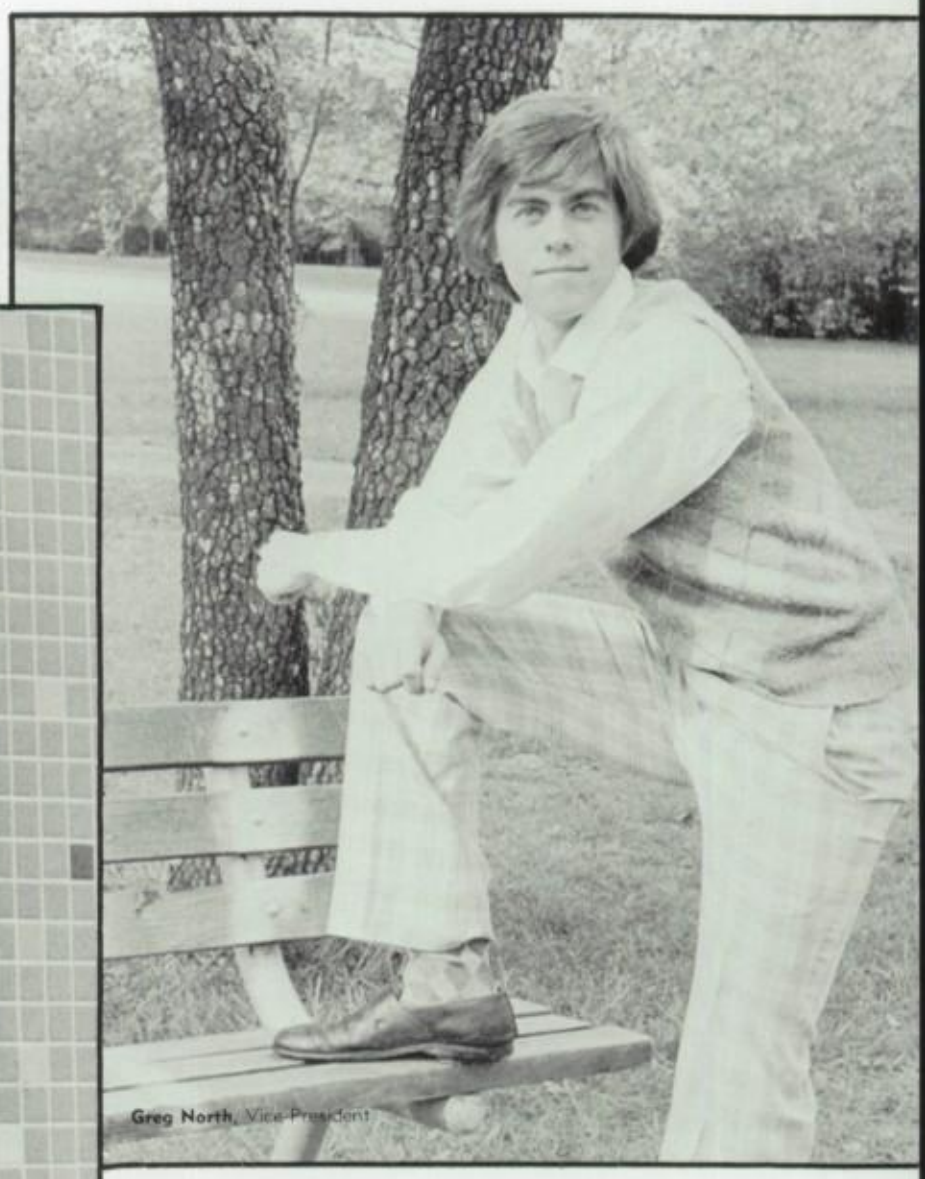
Class of '79



Joe Ragan, President



Greg North, Vice-President

Starting the year off on the right foot the class of '79 sponsored a car wash, and working toward their ultimate goal of a well stocked treasury for their graduation year, they planned many activities. Their spirit continued to remain high as they worked on their homecoming preparation in October.

With the class trip to King's Dominion rapidly approaching and their treasury still short, the students once again rallied to the call and held a candle sale which helped a little.

In the end the class of '79 ended their sophomore year on top assured that it would be a long time before they forgot it and looking forward to their next two years at Lee High School.

Tests, Tests, Tests

Even with graduation still two and a half years off the members of the class of '79 were urged to plan ahead toward college and careers. Schedule planning for their junior and senior years became important in order to make sure that all the needed classes could be taken. In October many sophomores took the PSAT's (Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Tests). The scores from these tests were used in qualifying for the National Merit Scholarships. Parents, teachers, and counselors began asking which colleges students were interested in and prodding them at least to think about what they wanted to do after graduation. Grades started becoming a major concern since class ranking and grade-point averages were based solely on them. Little by little sophomores began to realize that the spring of 1979, and graduation weren't very far away.

Where Are the Jobs?

In the next decade the supply of college graduates will far outstrip the demand

by Phyllis Franck & Annette Kornblum

The American Dream is changing.

It wasn't so long ago that young people were told they could be anything they wanted when they grew up—that hard work and determination were all it would take to become doctors, lawyers or teachers.

Today, as these young people get out of school and look for jobs, they are finding that the work ethic alone is no longer enough. Given the unpredictable employment picture, it pays to have a good idea of what fields offer the best job opportunities—before, not after, choosing a career.

Thus, a little-noticed Labor Department report which surveys U. S. job prospects over the next 10 years could be of real assistance to those floundering around for career choices. The Occupational Outlook Handbook, in its 1976-77 edition, released this spring, zeroes in on some 800 white- and blue-collar occupations, projecting the average number of jobs expected improvement in the overall job market, its prognosis for college graduates is less than inspiring.

In the next decade the overwhelming majority of job openings will not call for four-year degrees. On the increase will be jobs requiring two-year post-professional programs or vocational training. Those that will demand college graduates will favor candidates with advanced degrees from top schools.

The over-educated

To put the problem another way, the supply of new college graduates will far outstrip the demand. Thirteen million now are due to be graduated between now and 1985. A million of them will remain unemployed or take jobs that do not require a degree, according to Labor Department officials.

They point out that in the past five years the percentage of college graduates working as laborers and in craft and clerical jobs has skyrocketed.

Helen Zeidler, 27, of Washington

$$$ Jobs $$$

As the year started the majority of sophomores were 15 years old. Many begged and pleaded with doubting parents to be allowed to join the work force as soon as their sixteenth birthday finally arrived. With each visit to the Mall more and more sophomores were seen behind the counters of the department stores as well as in the restaurants, shops, stockrooms, and dishrooms all over Springfield. Great expectations to become independantly wealthy overnight were shared by all. The "small deductions" for Social Security, federal, state, and local taxes jarred everyone back into reality.

Getting the Keys

With the magic age of 15 years and 8 months the majority of sophomores made one of the biggest steps toward independance and freedom. They received their Learner's Permit which allowed them to drive a car when accompanied by a licensed driver.

The first stage of the process the students went through to get the all important driver's license was passing the classroom course. During the class' nine-week period a representative from the Division of Motor Vehicles came and tested the students. At the end of this course all students received forms stating that they had passed; that enabled them to take the next step, the Behind-the Wheel course. The final step of the learning stage came when students actually learned how to drive a car. On the day of their 16th birthday many sophomores went to the Division of Motor Vehicles and took the test for their driver's licenses. Passing this test gave them their licenses.

Homecoming

As part of the homecoming activities the hall decorations as always played a big part in tieing everything together for the week. Once the homecoming theme had been selected the sophomores got together to come up with the designs for their class halls and their float. With this year's theme being the "Wild, Wild West" the class of '79 fashioned their float as a tiger tied to the tracks of an on coming train and entitled it "Lancers Train the Tigers." The whole class came out to help decorate the halls. The artists and all the many helping hands produced a hall filled with cowboy hats, boots, cactuses, and lots of brightly colored crepe paper and posters. Everyone had fun and agreed that this was a homecoming the class of '79 would long remember.

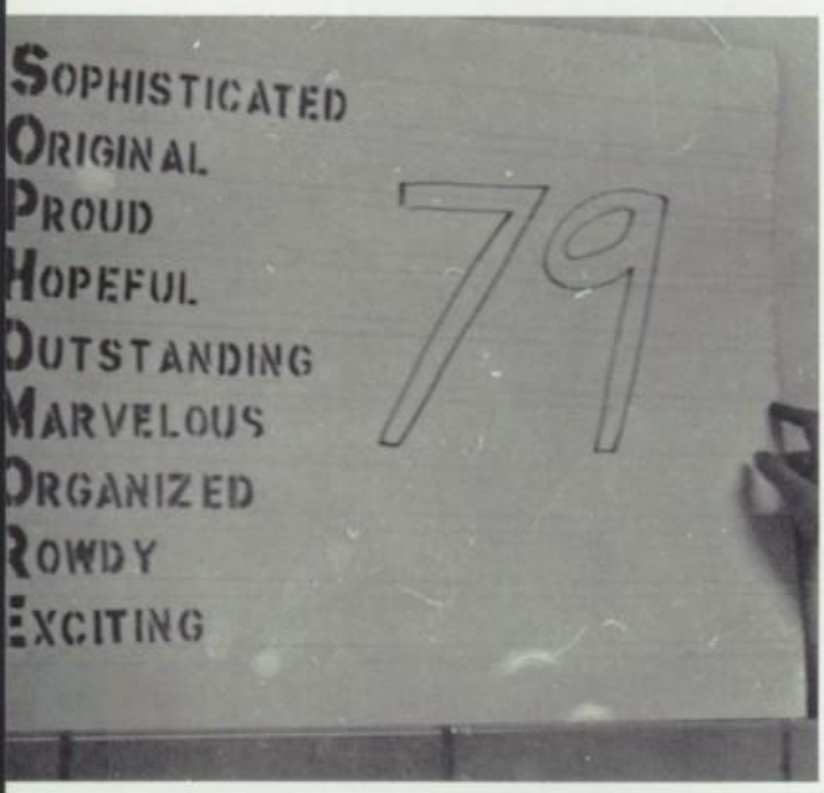
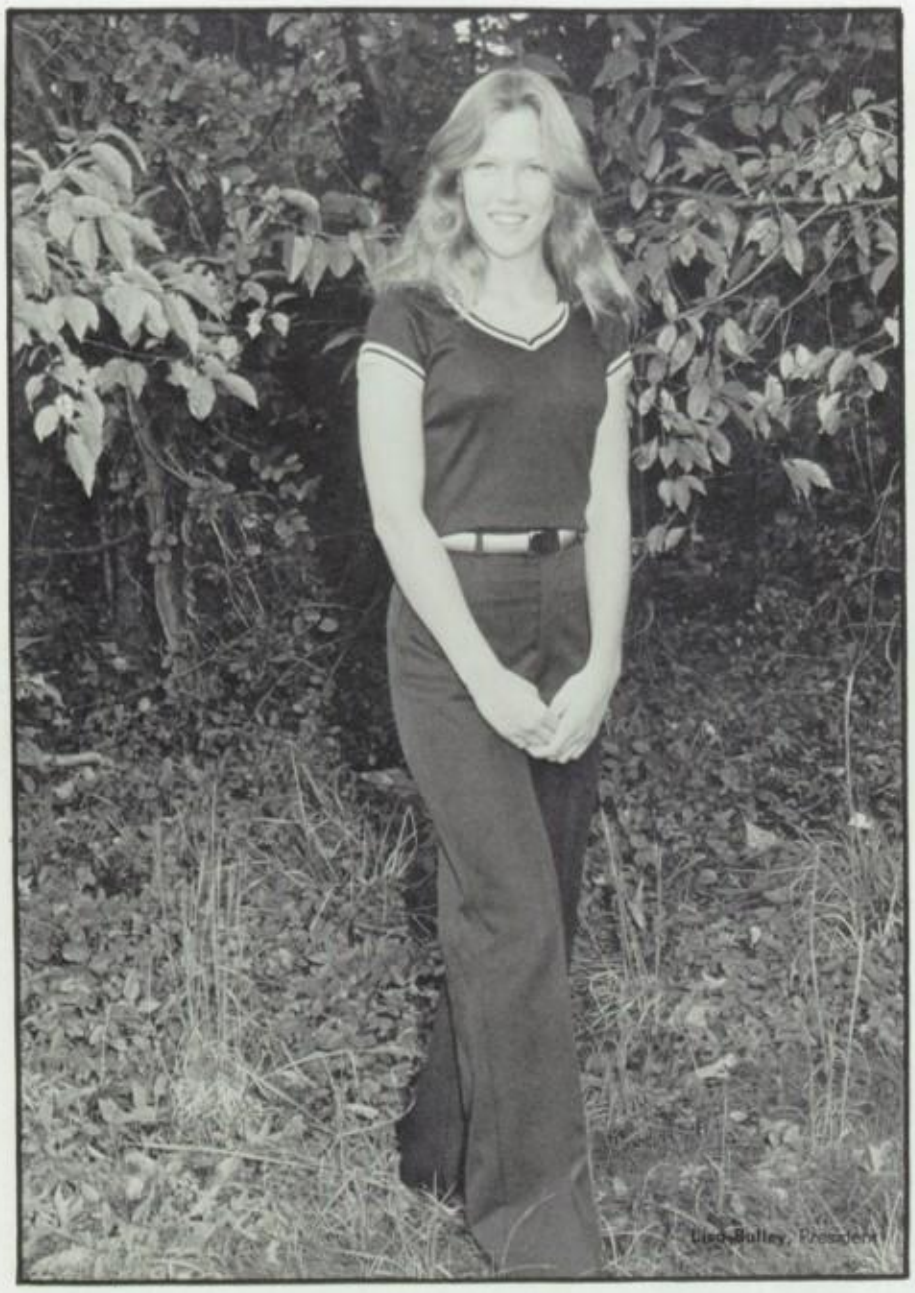
Pros and Cons



When the members of the class of '79 look back on their sophomore year, they will cherish the memories of the fun they had this year.

The sophomore year was also the hardest for many. For guys there was the problem of dating. Asking a girl out and then having your father or older brother drive was often too embarrassing to be endured. Some girls wanted to go out with older guys who had cars. Then there were also parents who said that their daughters were too young to date or who didn't approve of older boys. Many girls even had curfew and strict rules to live by. At any rate sophomores could take comfort in the fact that it couldn't last forever.

Class of '80



Lisa Bulley, Presidente

Renee Landry, Vice-President

The freshmen class this year was a very spirited and active class. Homecoming turned out to be a success; the hall decorations tied for second and the float won third. They had bake sales, car-washes and various candy sales. For Valentine's Day they sold Valentine-o-grams and flowers. They sponsored dances and did very well at pep rallys, winning the pep stick many times.

Impressions

The first day of school for freshmen is usually pretty hectic. The class of '80 was no different. General confusion and problems of all sorts were experienced. When freshmen were asked what their first day of school was like, there was a wide variety of answers. Here's what some replied:

"it's not big and scary"
"it was very peaceful"
"I was scared and lost"
"lotsa people"
"it seemed pretty cute"
"crowded"
"I was hoping I wouldn't get beaten up"
"better than Key"
"what am I gonna do?"
"I got lost about 50 times"
"it was cool"
"scary"

Our First

After spending much time preparing the float, hall decorations, and costumes the week of the first homecoing for Lee's freshman class finally arrived. Class spirit started to grow and freshman took an active part in many of the activities. For the first time since the election of their officers the class could participate as a group. Like every class before them, the class of '80 had high hopes of their float winning first place. Whether it was the spirit at the game, the pep rally, the follies, or some other activity the class of '80 got together and displayed homecoming spirit.

Freshman Spirit Never Fails

School spirit is something which tends to wear off after a few years, but to the freshmen it was something new. Many found that to their surprise they really cared whether or not the Lancers won on Friday nights. They had an outlet for their zeal and enthusiasm other than their classes. Their school spirit grew from the start of the first pep-rally and continued to grow with every cheer, game and activity throughout the year. There were plenty of opportunities for the freshmen to show the world and all of Fairfax County they came from Lee. They had their own athletic teams and cheerleaders to spur their enthusiasm on, and at several pep-rallies the class of '80 showed they were proud to be Lee Lancers by their loud shouts and cheers.

Classes

Most freshmen discovered this year that the classes at Lee were different from those at Key or any elementary school. At Lee they learned that deadlines and due dates were strict, and getting an extension was no easy task. There was more homework, and teachers did not give students class time to do it in. Teachers did not always announce tests a week in advance and they gave "pop" quizzes with no warning at all. Everything you did was graded and even your homework was checked regularly and graded. Freshmen learned that they had to work to get grades, and "A's" weren't as easy to get as they had once been. The members of the class of '80 learned to accept responsibility and quickly settled down to form good study habits which would be valuable in the future. School wasn't just fun and games and schoolwork was serious business. Competition became keen and good grades became goals that you had to strive hard for and kept striving for without letting up for a moment. The freshmen began to learn how important school was and what doing well in school meant for their future.

Making New Friends

In the first few weeks of school at Lee all freshmen experienced a feeling of insecurity to one degree or another. Many parents patiently listened to complaints from their freshmen about a lack of companionship. The problem began solving itself as students became more at ease in their classes and gained confidence in themselves. There were many activities in the fall where the incoming freshmen could meet each other and participate as members of Lee's student body. Once friends had been made everything started to fall into place and the year's activities and functions began to start up. By October the freshmen were feeling much more at home and were as much a part of Lee as any of the other three classes.

The Lee Lancers started the 1976 football season with high hopes and a new head coach. Under the leadership of their tri-captains, Pat "Moses" Hannigan, Brian "Kong" Lenhoff, and Mike "Mac" McClellan, the team worked with endless spirit. In spite of some very discouraging first halves, the Lancers held all but one of their opponants scoreless in the second halves of their games. The Lancer team had many good football players with eleven receiving awards and honors for their accomplishments. They had the essential ingredients for a strong team but lacked a forceful scoring ability. In spite of a less than successful record the team played well together. Led by rising juniors who gained valuable playing time this season, the Lancers show great promise for the 1977 season.

Lancer players who received awards for their performances during the season were:

John Alexander — All-District Honorable Mention
Tim Begley — All-District 1st team
Randy Best — Outstanding Lineman, All-District 2nd team
Ken Breeden — Outstanding Sportsmanship Award
Bill Cushman — All-District Honorable Mention
Mike Dishner — Outstanding Runningback, Coaches' Trophy, All-District 2nd team
Greg Dowd — All-District Honorable Mention
Pat Hannigan — All-District 1st team
Brian Lenhoff — Most Valuable Player, Outstanding Defensive Player, All-District 1st team
Craig Lucas — All-Regional 2nd team, All-District 1st team
Mike McClellan — All-District Honorable Mention

A young group of two Sophomores, three Juniors, and two Seniors made up the Varsity Squad. This team enjoyed a successful year with the best performance being the Georgetown University Varsity "B" Race Championships. The record in dual meets was 4-2 and the team placed in the top ten of all Invitationals in which it competed.

Co-Captains Stuart Copan and Jim Powell provided good leadership and were examples of hard working athletes. Jud Springer, one of the best sophomores in the state, placed fourth in our district, twelfth in the region and sixteenth in the State Meet. Mark Springfield was our only senior in the top five and will be sorely missed. We expect to get help next year from Brian Kilchrist, Mark Ramos, and other promising sophomores.

The girls' tennis team finished their season by placing third in their district. They had a season record of 8 wins and 4 losses. Coached by Miss Arduini the girls played well, and Dawn Denton, Maureen Gallagher, and Debbie Kilchrist each advanced to the district tournament where Maureen placed fourth. The two top double teams of Maureen Gallagher and Dawn Denton and Debbie Kilchrist and Amy Ellertson also represented Lee in the District tournament. Dawn and Maureen placed second in this tournament and advanced to the regional tournament.

Coming off the best season in the school's history, preseason hopes for the Lancers were high. The experienced seniors formed the backbone of the team with All-Regional guard Jay Atchinson heading the list. Other standouts were David Gould, Alec McCullock, Bill Renner and Mike Niehoff. The senior members of the team had a four year record of 76 and 11. The team finished the regular season with a 19-1 record and went to the tournament first in the district. The team's real test came in the regional tournament when they were matched against T.C. Williams. Coach Dean said, "This has been one of the most enjoyable years of my coaching career."

"Concentration"

Laura Mills wins the State championship on the uneven parallel bars.

The girls' gymnastics team ended the season finishing in 2nd place with a 4-2 record. Laura Mills finished 1st in the district on uneven bars and was selected for the All-District team. Cathy Jellison filled in a solid 2nd in all meets, placing 4th in the district tournament. Maureen Ostinato did a fine job on the unevens, filling in the 3rd place spot toward the end of the season. Wendy Crump, Lee's all-around, held 4th in bars for the Lancers, and the Mills and Jellison team kept Lee undefeated in bars. Ronnie Eggleston finished 5th in the district in vaulting. Wendy Crump will be returning next year to lead the team on to an even finer season.

The Lee High School wrestling team had an overall good season. Paul Lokie, Tom Rowden, and Darrell Jones returned from last year's varsity team and were joined by nine new wrestlers. The '76-'77 co-captains were Tom Rowden and Scott Forbes. Some of Lee's wrestlers did very well individually. Tom Rowden had a regular season record of 11-1-0 and received first place in district competition. Ken Booe also finished first in districts with a regular season record of 6-5-0. Paul Lokie finished second in districts, Darrell Jones finished third, and Jamae Ahmed and Dan Gallagher finished in fourth place. These wrestlers represented Lee in the regional competition. The team's overall record for the season was 4-8-0.

Amy Ellertson jumps for the rebound.

Beth Campbell looks as the ball flies over her head.

The Girls' Varsity Basketball team possessed all the ingredients of a championship team. They had dedication, ability, a desire to win, and most of all a goal in mind. The team had a fine season with 14 wins and 2 losses. They were first place in the district and won the district tournament. Each and every player contributed to a most successful season.

Kathy Kleha — All District Team, All Dist. Tournament Team, MVP for District Tournament, All Reg. Tournament Team, MVP for Lee.

Elizabeth Egger — All District Team, All Dist. Tournament Team, All Reg. Tournament Team.

Hold on Debbie, Liz is comming to the rescue.

Egger stretches for the jump ball.

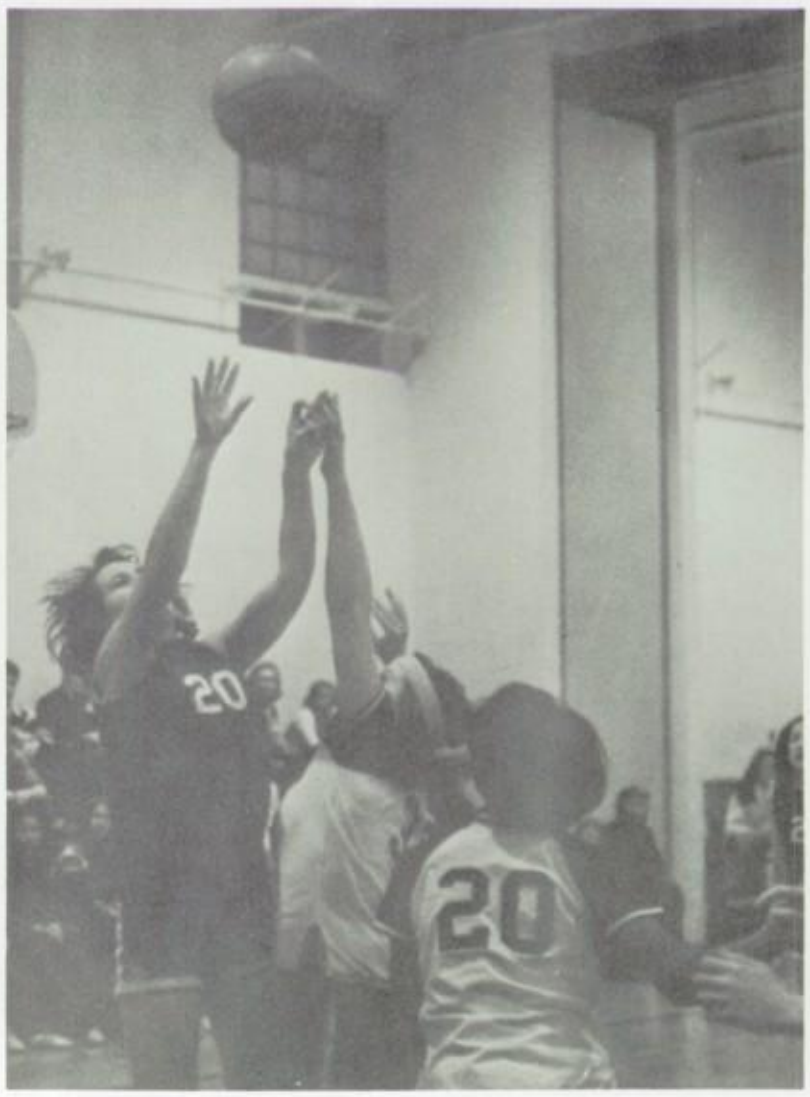
The Lancers warm up in hopes of another victory.

The Varsity girls await their turn.

Girls' JV Basketball

Front Row: L. McCardle, D. Banko, A. Victor, L. Renner, J. Blakely, S. Greene. Back Row: A. Sigethy (manager), J. Nesbaumer (manager), L. Love, B. Baugh, M. Boyle, S. Sweetser, K. Humbert, R. Hazen, M. Kositch (manager).

The JV Basketball team coached by Miss Hardin and assistant coach Sally Campbell gained much experience in preparation for next year's team. The captains were Lisa Renner and Andy Victor. The team's record was 2-10. The season high scorers were Becky Baugh, first place, and Lisa Renner, second place. The leading rebounders for the season were Kim Humbert, first, and Janie Blakely, second. Renee Hazen had the highest percentage of free throws. Kim Humbert was recognized as the most improved player. The Most Valuable Player Award went to Laurie McCardle.



Winter Track

Front Row: K. Kroeger, R. Lohr, P. Donnelly, S. Smiley, H. Enokida, K. Pohler, C. Sakamoto. Second Row: R. Goodacre, B. Harris, T. Lohr, J. Meeks, M. Owens, P. Graft. Third Row: J. Perry, J. Powell, L. Vanatta, G. Campion (manager), C. Nyce, B. Kilchrist, J. Springer, S. Meeks. Back Row: J. Wohlford, M. Decker, P. Cooke, P. Edwards.

Jud Springer wins 1st place in the 2 mile event at the CYO Track Meet.

The Indoor Track team was hampered by the severe winter weather and lack of practice space inside the building. Several young men promise a bright future for track at Lee. Sophomore Jud Springer and junior Scott Meeks represented Lee at the state meet in the 2-mile and mile events respectively. Dean Maddox will return next year to be the district favorite in the 600. Nate Perry was the team's leading scorer, excelling in the high jump, triple jump, long jump, and short sprints. The team will return next year confident of a good season.

Rifle Team

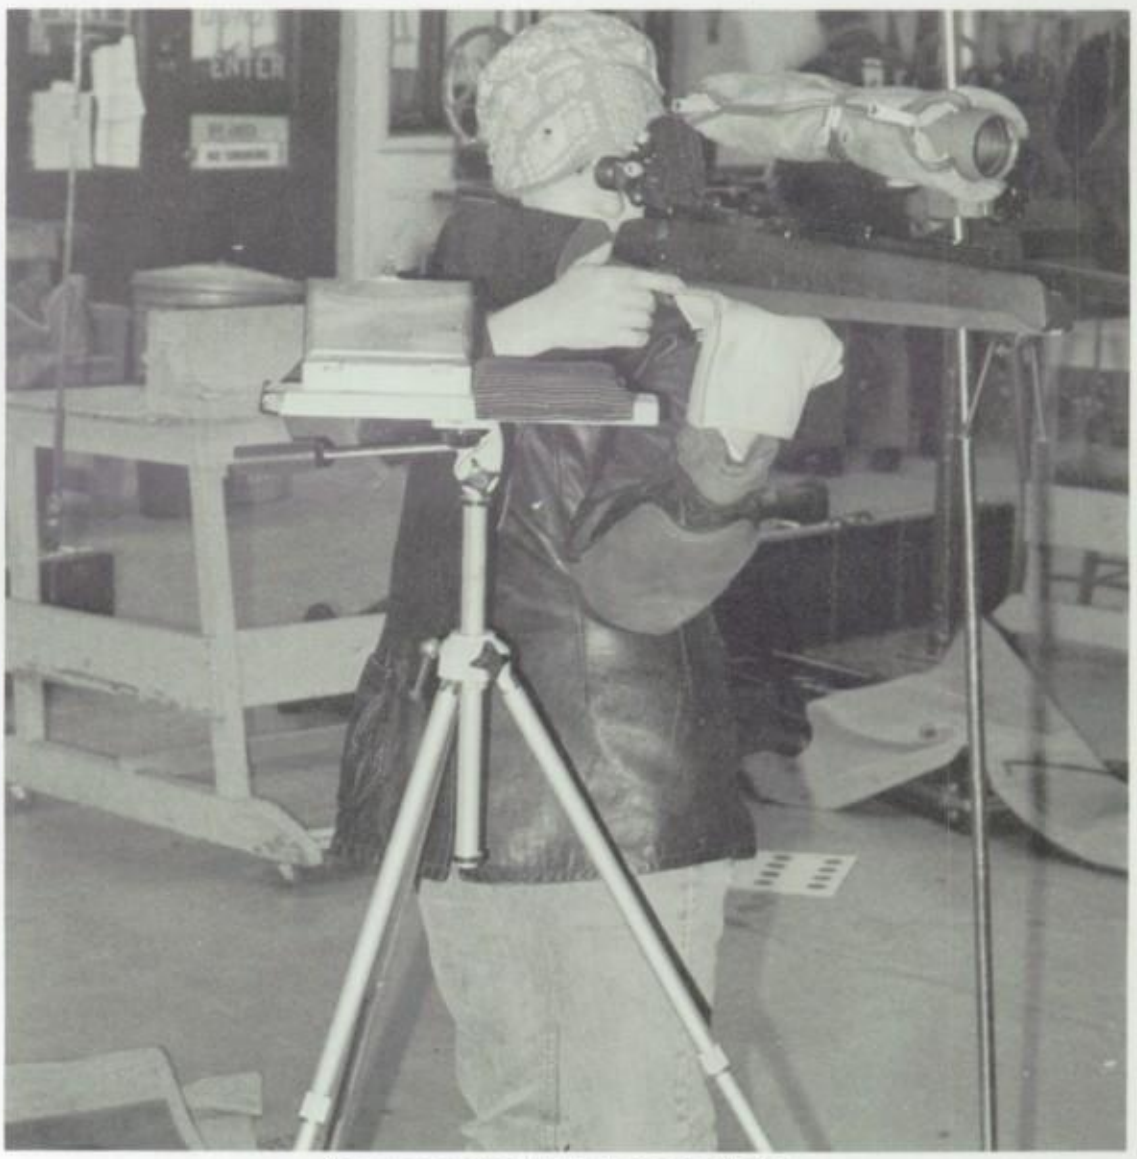
The 1976-77 Rifle team had a great season. In mid-February their record stood at 8-1, the only loss being Woodson High School. The team broke the 1125 point school record once with a score of 1130 and again with 1134 points out of a possible 1200.

Karen Long, a junior, was Lee's highest individual shooter. She was joined by Shelle Anti, Susan Dake, Sue Olsen, Steve Stuckey, John Castagnola, and Craig Ulrich. Susan Dake was the only senior member, so the team will have a very strong and experienced group of experts returning next year.

The team had practices at Libbey Range, Fort Belvior, and Quantico Marine Base. The team and the Rifle Club are affiliated with the National Rifle Association and part of the 13 team Northern Virginia Scholastic Rifle League.

The team coaches for the 1976-77 team were Col. Jim Varnell and Mr. Eugene Dake, who willingly gave of their free time and expertise to make this year's team the best Lee has ever had.



Karen Long practices at Libby Range at Fort Belvoir.

Swimming

Front Row: J. Hardin, D. Huber, C. Salaz, J. Easley, C. Hawranick, J. Houseknecht, E. Zambrano, G. Breindenback. Row 2: C. Charron, S. Lee, R. Paz, A. Robertson, M. Charron, S. Wooten, T. Scovill, D. Hardin, M. Mancuso, D. Hightower. Back Row: S. Massaro, A Mancuso, L. Matson, N. Cohen, J. Fraker, T. Gibson, Y. Houseknecht, L. Salaz, R. Pacheco, L. Wood, M. Guiles (Coach).

For the Lee High School swim team, coached by Mr. Guiles, this year was one of personal victories and a number of near wins. The thirty-four team participants swam against schools with as many as sixty and seventy members. The team decided to continue on anyway trying their best. Using this year as a learning season, the team members are prepared for the next season. John Alexander took third place in the district diving competition.

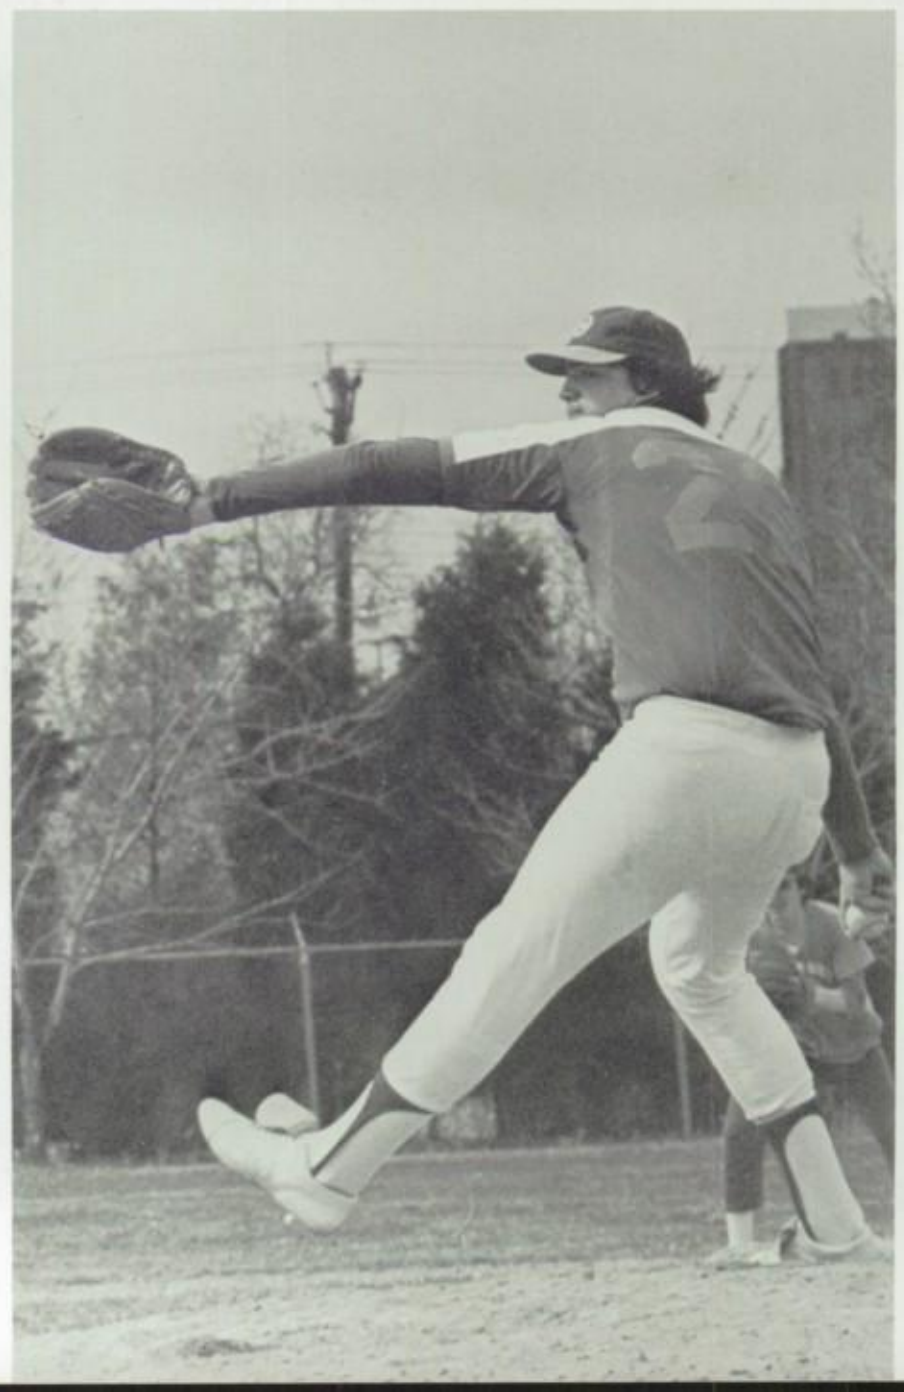
Joe Buonviri, one of the senior members of the baseball team, gives the ball a good hit!

The 1977 Lancer diamondmen looked to the season with cautious optimism after a disappointing 10-10 finish in 1976. Although the varsity had 10 returning lettermen, they were seriously challenged by six promising rookies up form the JV's, a Frosh and a first year junior. Alec McCullock, a potential pro-draftee, headed the mound crew with Mike Fox, Billy Cushman, and Pinky Hodges rounding out the staff. Right handed swingers Bill Renner and Mike Dishner as well as lefty Jim Pfister ignited the Lancer offense. The infield was anchored by Joe Buonviri and Eddie Morton, with rookies Tommy Carroll, Jim Youngblood, Joe Trabucco, and Dave Lowe challenged them for the three starting positions. Patrolling the outfield was the ever fleet Rich Flaherty, in center, Bill Duffy, Jeff Herriman, and Mark Stuart. All in all, it was a promising season for the relatively young Lancer nine.



Bo Bo McCullock, one of the pitchers for the Lancers, takes a big wind up!

Joe Buonviri hustles to throw the ball to one of his teammates.

Lee's pitcher and catcher, Bo Bo McCullock, and Bill Renner discuss the strategy for the next inning.

Bill Renner catches the ball for practice before the game!

Richard Flaherty bunts the ball to fake out his opponent.

This will get him out!!!

Coach Bradley gives his team a few pointers before the game!

Mike Wallace dribbles the ball down the field to keep it out of his opponents' reach.

The Soccer team was young with only four seniors, yet had many returning starters. High hopes were held for a successful season. The play was fast, competitive and exciting. All-Gunston District players Jim Labovites and Brant Edwards along with much improved Scott Tredway were the key to a successful defense. Bruce Beddow directed the attack aided by Brian Beale and Wes Kemp. The Soccer team is a close knit, motivated, ambitious squad which did their best to make Lee proud of them.

Scott Meredith kicks the ball away for his opponent.

Soccer, the game of skill.

Brant Edwards prepares to drill the ball for a score!

Scott Meredith out runs his opponent to keep control of the ball.

Jason Matteo taps the ball in hopes to throw off his opponent.

Jason Matteo keeps the ball out of everyone's reach by his dribbling skills.

The girls' track team takes a warm up lap before practice.

Liz, Debbie and Renee complete their final lap.

Sue Olsen makes a quick start.

The girls' track team got off to an early start this year with several returning starters from last year's team. With lots of hard work this team will be strong with many new faces. Outstanding returners and new starters will be Joan Matson, Liz Egger, Lisa Love, Renee Landry and Linda Cooke. The team has been fortunate in securing a new assistant coach Mrs. Zinsser, who coached in Germany.

A Year..... the word seems to indicate a long, extended period of time. It takes a "year" to finish a tough test, a "year" to finish your homework, a "year" to get through a crowded lunch line, a "year" to get a pass in the morning, and a "year" for the 2:05 bell to ring. In the fall the coming school year seemed ten times that long and yet we are here....

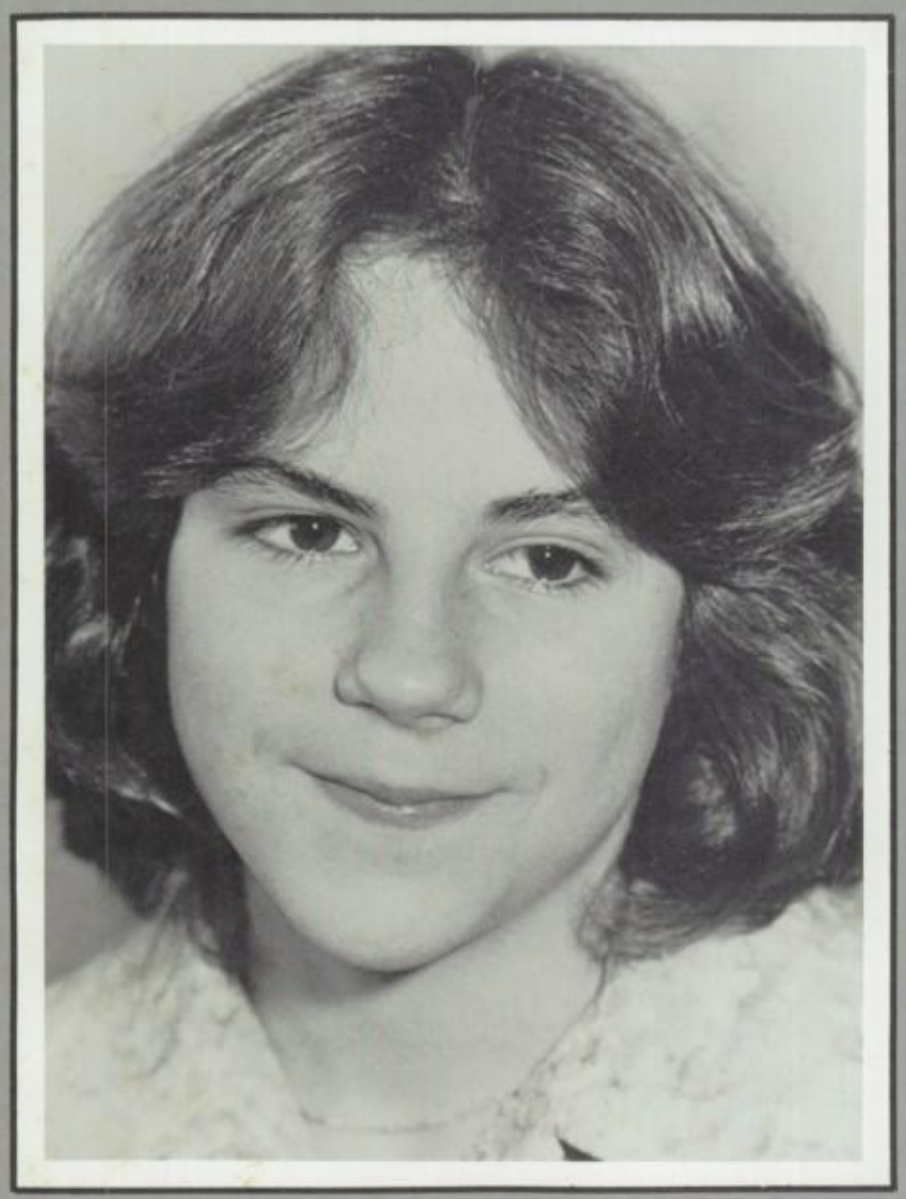
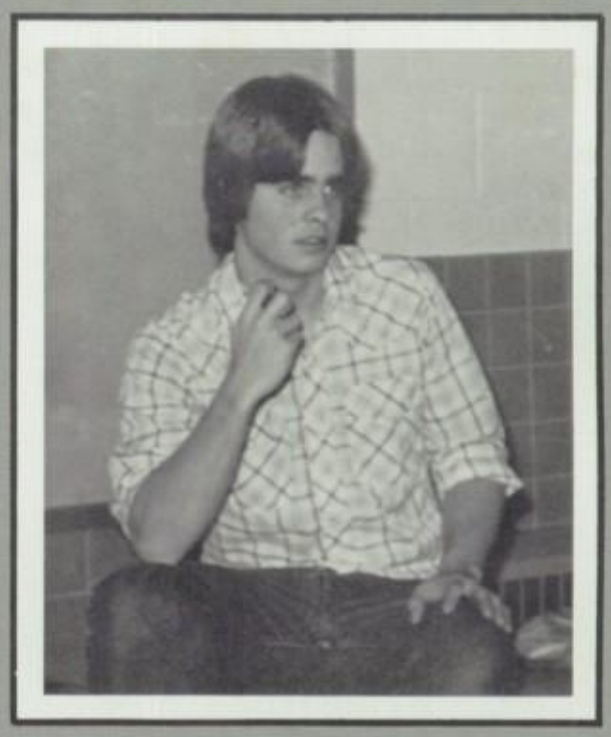
PERIOD

All our good times,

our fun times, our happy times, our silly times, and our victorious times are what we will remember about our years at Lee in the future. The times we shared experiences, smiles, laughter, and secrets will add to the memories of this past year and these will be the things we will remember and carry with us to cherish always. These will be the things that we will look fondly back and refer to as

"The Good Old Days"





May Thanks to the staff members who did more than their share.
